Valley pair crusade to save whales

LIVERMORE — The war against slaughter of whales has come inland to this valley.

The local home front makes its stand in a quiet health food store on Livermore's First Street, where Linda and Wally Depew persuade people to wear buttons and pewter jewelry depicting various species of the endangered whales.

"I've always loved animals," says Linda, who sends proceeds from sale of the buttons to the Greenpeace Foundation.

That's the group with the tiny boat that plays "David and Goliath" against Russian and Japanese whaling boats off the California coast.

Greenpeacers place their small craft between the harpoon gun and a pod of whales hoping the presence of humans blocking the path will deter the harpooner from pulling the trigger.

It doesn't always work and the whale allies sometimes have to duck as the harpoon sails past them and explodes inside the large mammal bodies in the ocean.

This year, employing a much faster vessel and more sophisticated electronic apparatus and a more experienced crew, the Greenpeace Foundation renewed its efforts to hassle the Russians and Japanese.

"They know the whales are almost extinct," pleads Linda, "and they know they couldn't continue whaling operations another five years at the present rate of kill."

Noting the whalers will "have to stop then anyway," she says "it seems reasonable to stop now because we now have synthetic substitutes."

One substitute, mentioned in the Greenpeace Chronicles newspaper, is the Jojoba plant, native to desert areas of California, Arizona and Mexico.

This herbal substitute for sperm whale oil "is easier to obtain, cheaper to extract and if managed and cultivated properly will provide more than enough oil needed now and in the future," says the publication.

It points out the whaling industry in Japan and the Soviet Union is attempting to achieve the maximum return on their original investment for their whaling fleets, "even at the cost of sacrificing the whale population of the planet."

Linda wrinkles her brow when she thinks of the senseless slaughter of a "self conscious animal which is extremely intelligent."

The Greenpeace group is also known for its intrusion into atomic bomb test zones of the United States and France to create public opinion which brough above ground testing to a screeching halt.

Their boat uses a thousand dollars worth of fuel a day, and the group pleads for money to pay for feeding the crew, equipment, etc.

The buttons sold at Van's Health Store sell for $1.50 and depict the blue, fin, sperm and orca varieties of whale. Pewter pins showing sperm whales, dolphins (part of the whale family) and the fluke (tail) design are offered for $2.50-$4.00.

"Total proceeds go to Greenpeace," said Linda, noting she also has copies of the Greenpeace Chronicles for two bits, some free literature, a whale calendar, pendants, buckles and the book, "A Whale for the Killing."

Pleasanton to observe Vets' Day

PLEASANTON — The city council will delay an extra day, thanks to the Veterans Day observance tomorrow, and meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in one of its rare departures from the regular Monday night schedules.

When the meeting time does roll around, the council will try to resolve a couple of delayed votes. The council split 3-2 a few weeks ago in favor of changing the zoning ordinance so that an automatic car wash can be built in the city's central commercial zoning.

Mayor Robert Philcox asked the final vote on the resolution be delayed till Tuesday so that he can explore both sides of the question in more depth. Councilmembers Ken Mercer and Frank Brandes voted for it because the car wash proposed in conjunction with the ordinance change would be off Main Street proper and would be a $225,000 investment in the downtown's future.

Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire and Councilman William Herlihy voted against it because they felt the car wash would influence the downtown aesthetics in a negative way, hurting investment in downtown in the long run.

The council also will hear a report on smoke detectors to be installed in Komandorski Village. The question was delayed at the request of LeClaire who had heard a Ralph Nader report call the ionization type of smoke detectors dangerous because they give off radiation. She suggested the fire department investigate the kinds of smoke detectors available.

The fire department has investigated and found that the ionization type of detectors have such low levels of radiation they really are not hazardous. They do a better job of detecting invisible gases from fires than the non - radioactive kind, according to Acting Fire Chief Bert Cherry.

LeClaire told The Times Friday that she still isn't sure about how she feels on the issue. The radioactive detectors may do a better job overall of detecting smoke, but there is also merit to the argument that no radiation is better than just a little, which was the main argument raised in the Nader report, said LeClaire.

Other items before the council will include Doug Huntze's request to remove an old elm heritage tree.

Youth pleads innocence in SR slayings

LIVERMORE — The 16-year-old San Ramon youth charged in the triple slaying of a Dublin family Aug. 23 pleaded not guilty to charges of first degree murder and conspiracy Friday.

David Barker, 16, of 9606 Broadmoor Drive, will appear in Livermore Municipal Court again Nov. 4 at 9:30 a.m. for a preliminary hearing to decide whether enough evidence exists to send the case to superior court for trial.

Barker, along with 20-year-old Barry Braeseke, is charged in the shooting deaths of Floyd Braeseke, his wife Barbara, and John Braeseke. They were found shot to death in the family froom of their 11418 Betlen Drive home by Barry.

Attorney Barry Morris of Oakland, representing Barker, filed a motion to suppress evidence obtained by the prosecution. It will also be heard Nov. 4.

After a court hearing Oct. 14, the court decided Barker would be tried as an adult on the murder charges.

Foothill Homecoming

The senior class float bore out the theme of "Storybook Land" as Foothill High School staged its first-ever Homecoming Parade Friday afternoon through Pleasanton. Homecoming culminated Friday night with crowning of the Homecoming queen and her court at the Foothill - Dublin football game. The Falcon band, which helped highlight the parade Friday, will be host to the second annual "Americana '77" Band Review next Saturday. A parade, starting at 11 a.m., will lead off the day - long event in Pleasanton.

Murray trustees studying Dublin School conversion

Murray School District trustees will take their first concentrated look at the Citizens Advisory Committee report that recommends a seventh - eighth grade Dublin School at a meeting Wednesday.

The board will convene at 8 p.m. at Dublin School, 7997 Vomac Rd., Dublin.

At the heart of the report, which was compiled after five months of meetings, is a recommendation to convert Dublin School from its present kindergarten through eighth grade status to seventh - eighth by September of 1977.

The report incorporates data telling how the decision was arrived at what enrollment and busing changes will be necessary to accomplish conversion. A worksheet in the report also indicates how a conversion of Frederiksen School (to seventh - eighth) could be accomplished.

Enrollment projections, a description of junior high curriculum, class schedules and a report on the survey of Murray district residents (on conversion versus status quo) is also included.

Trustees will also receive final figures compiled by Allan Richards, a Contra Costa County resident skilled in demographic studies of school districts.

Richards submitted two sheets showing individual school enrollments projections through 1985-86, based on 50 net move - outs per annum and 100 net move - outs per annum.

Richards quotes a 1975 total district enrollment figure of 5,455 and projects 5,330 for 1976-77.

However, total district enrollment as of Sept. 24 was 5,193. The latter figure is also under that projected on the 100 net move - outs chart (5,282).

Using the 100 net move - outs chart, the district enrollment is projected to decline steadily through 1984-85 to 4,683. On the 50 net move - outs chart, Richards figures the district student population will fall to 4,893 by 1984-85.

Proponents of conversion say a second seventh - eighth grade school (Wells is now the only one) in the district will provide maximum educational opportunities for more junior high students and better prepare them for high school classes.

Opponents, of which the Residents - In - Action have been the most outspoken, say conversion will only cause many more K-6 students to bused out of neighborhood schools.

Trustees may schedule one additional meeting to work over the CAC report, possibly coming to a decision on what course to take by Dec. 1.

Raymond's political signs hit

A volunteer campaign worker for Supervisor John Murphy filed a complaint with the registrar of voters office Friday charging Valerie Raymond's camp with a misrepresentation in campaign advertising.

Ivan Sumich of Fremont, a volunteer worker with Murphy's campaign, complained that newspaper and billboard advertising paid for by the Raymond camp implies she is the incumbent.

The ads, a sample of which appears on page 2 of The Times' Friday edition, says "Valerie Raymond" in large headline type, with the word "Supervisor" in smaller type directly below it.

James Riggs, county registrar, said his office had received the complaint but "wouldn't even try to touch it" because he considers it a civil law matter.

Riggs said he had seen similar types of political advertising in the past, but had never seen any legal action taken in such cases. "Murphy would have to make a charge himself in a civil case," Riggs said Friday.

Contacted at his office late Friday, Murphy said he was unaware of the complaint filed by Sumich, and said he would consider over the weekend filing a civil complaint.

"This is one of the typical tricks being played against me. I wish people would run against me on the job merits," Murphy said.

The supervisor said he had seen the newspaper ads but not the billboards. He said Sumich was a volunteer worker in his Fremont office but had not talked to him about the alleged misrepresentation.

Valerie Raymond was not available for comment Friday.

Pleasanton to evaluate Las Positas span poll

PLEASANTON — The city council will take a look Tuesday night at the final results of the city - wide newspaper poll which sought the public's opinion about what kind of overcrossing, if any, should join West Las Positas Boulevard across Interstate 680.

The winning option with 146 votes was the first stage of a vehicle crossing with two lanes of traffic plus pedestrian and bicycle facilities at a cost estimated at $1.6 million.

In second place, thanks to a boost from ballots taken in a separate citizens' poll and added to the main poll, was the option for a full interchange with pedestrian and bicycle facilities and on and off ramps. It got 89 votes.

An overcrossing for pedestrians and bicycles that can't be modified later to add vehicles was in third place with 70 votes. Its cost would be $400,000.

The 34 residents who voted for no overcrossing saw their option finish fourth, just ahead of the 30 people who wanted a full overcrossing with four lanes of traffic and the pedestrian and bicycle lanes at an estimated cost of $2.5 million.

The least popular choice was the $800,000 option for a pedestrian and bicycle overcrossing which can be expanded to handle vehicles later. It received 28 votes.

Some members of the public will get another chance in the next week or two to express their feelings about the overcrossing. Foothill High School students in Jim Eaton's social studies classes will fan out around the city and conduct their regular scientific election year samplings. One of the questions on the poll will be about the overcrossing and the pollsters hope to weigh the sample according to the strength of feelings about each option.

Amador teachers

Work slowdown spurs reprimand

Sixty - five Amador Valley Joint High School District teachers staged a mill - in protest of letters of reprimand received earlier at the district offices in Pleasanton Friday.

The letters of reprimand were sent out Oct. 15 to 144 Amador district teachers, citing their alleged "participation in an unauthorized activity on Sept. 22, 1977." The activity referred to was the teacher unit's calling of a minimum day. Teachers had received two letters prior to the September date, from the administration, warning them that such an action (in the administration's view) was illegal and subject to disciplinary action.

As teachers milled about in the lobby of the district office Friday, mediator Mike West was meeting with the administration and teacher negotiating teams. An impasse was declared two weeks ago, bringing about the mediation sessions.

The meeting lasted through much of the day, virtually within ear shot if not full view of the mill-in. The action was called by Jim Eaton and the representative council of the Amador Valley Secondary Educators Association (AVSEA).

Eaton admitted the protest was scheduled to coincide with the mediation sessions going on elsewhere in the building. Later, the teacher negotiating team huddled with Charles Hinton of the California Teachers Association (CTA) and West talked with the administration.

"We've tried to communicate the intensity of our feelings to the administration," Eaton said, as teachers stood around in small groups discussing the reprimand letters and the status of negotiations.

By the action, teachers eventually want the district personnel office to remove the letters of reprimand from their respective files.

For the time being, it has been suggested that teachers demand their own response letters be stapled to the reprimands. Eaton produced a sample copy of a "response letter" he said teachers could avail themselves of.

Eaton contended the letters sent out over the signature of Superintendent Bruce C. Newlin not only went to those who took part in the minimum day Sept. 22 but to some who didn't.

At the time, Eaton claimed the minimum day action to protest lack of movement in contract negotiations was produced 90 per cent participation.

It was also alleged that administrators at the three campuses were compiling lists of those faculty members who observed a minimum day. On a minimum day, all classes are abbreviated in length.

Many students expressed confusion Sept. 22 as administrators apprised their respective schools over the intercom that classes were to be regular day — while many teachers were holding shortened class sessions that recessed for the day at about 12:30.

The letter of reprimand sent to teachers on the 15th said in part; "The Board of Trustees of the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District have directed me to write this letter expressing the district's concern over your participation in an unauthorized activity Sept. 22, 1976."

The letter then goes on to cite a section of the individual school district teacher contract, a section of the Education Code, the current school starting and ending times as established by the board Sept. 14 and Amador board policy.

The letter concludes by stating, "Therefore, based on the above specified violations you are officially reprimanded for your participation in this unauthorized activity. It is our intention to place this letter in your personnel file. Pursuant to Education Code, Section 13001.5, you have the right to attach a response to the letter placed in your personnel file. In additio, you have the opportunity to read and sign the actual file copy. You have 10 days from the receipt of this letter to file such a response.

"Any future violations of board policy or code provisions will be viewed as a very serious matter and appropriate disciplinary procedures will be utilized. The disciplinary procedures might include the docking of pay, suspension or dismissal or a combination of these.

"The administration was further directed to find a way to restore the lost instructional time that rightfully belongs to the students. In order to accomplish this, one of the scheduled minimum days will be exchanged for the unauthorized minimum day of Sept. 22, 1976."

Eaton questioned the calling of certain minimum days, alluding to the schedule Friday at Foothill High School where students were preparing for a homecoming parade.

The response letter offered to teachers receiving reprimands said in part; "Much of your letter is irrelevant to the issues at hand. However, we wish to emphasize the following points:

1. Our employees were on campus during the hours prescribed by the board.

2. Our employees were on duty 30 minutes before the beginning of the first class, and for 30 minutes following the last class.

3. Our organization directed its members to conduct classes for a regular, legal minimum day — not to close down the school.

4. Any disruption of the normal learning situation during the minimum day was a direct result of administrative interference with AVSEA instructions to members of the bargaining unit.

5. Finally, your charge that there is lost time to be made up is ludicrous. The administration regularly finds ways to interfere with the normal school day with total impunity. We refer to numerous administratively - called minimum days, rallies, etc., not to mention loudspeaker interruptions.

"Finally, your threats related to anticipated future violations are totally uncalled for and in poor taste. We call upon you to eliminate threats and to restore reason to the negotiating process."

Teachers were advised by their unit they could submit the above letter over their own signature or write their own.

On Wednesday, the teacher bargaining unit's representative council dispatched a letter to Wally Decker, president of the Amador board, calling Decker's last letter to the unit as "unfortunate."

The unit claimed "it would be a simple matter to instruct your representatives to bring our contract to closure."

Newlin and Decker were not immediately available for comment.

Oakland man arrested in armed robbery case

LIVERMORE — A 21-year-old Oakland man was arrested early Friday after he allegedly stole a coat and forced another man to give him $22 for it, police reported.

According to reports, two men entered the Club Rodeo on Second Street late Thursday and questioned the bartender about $20 worth of bad checks one of the men had cashed there. After they left, the bartender noticed his coat missing.

police responded and received a tip about a commotion in a North Livermore Avenue apartment. John Francis Armstrong, 66, told police that two men walked into his apartment and asked him if he wanted to buy a coat. When he refused, one of the men allegedly twisted Armstrong's arm until he agreed to pay them $22.

Officer Kenneth Sair traced the suspects to Dan's Place on South Livermore Avenue and arrested William Francis O'Connor, 21, of Oakland on suspicion of armed robbery and petty theft.

While awaiting a cover unit, O'Connor reportedly became hysterical and calmed down only after the chemical mace was sprayed in his face. He was transported to Valley Memorial Hospital and had his eyes washed.

At the hospital, he again became irrational, police said, and had to be strapped down. He was identified as the suspect and booked on suspicion of armed robbery and resisting arrest.

Pet wolf tranquilized and later destroyed

LIVERMORE — A wolf that a Stanford Way resident had kept for a month as a pet and later escaped was tranquilized and later destroyed by animal control officers, police report.

The resident told police he needed assistance in capturing a dog he had kept as a pet before it escaped one month ago. He said it tended to be wild, and thought it to be half-wolf.

An animal control officer with a tranquilizer gun was called in from Pleasanton because police believed the animal to be a full-bred wolf. The animal was shot and subdued, but had to be destroyed because the dart had broken a vertebrae.

1000 nuts and bolts taken from airport

A representative from the North Coast Steel Co. said the missing hardware was worth $300-500. There are no suspects.

Alameda board chairman

Cooper knocks Livermore sewer policy

Alameda County Bureau

Board of supervisors chairman Fred F. Cooper, defending the county's septic tank policy in the valley, has opened an attack on Livermore's sewer connection conditions, claiming the city is failing to discuss their differences through the Congress of Valley Agencies.

In a pair of letters addressing the city council as "Dear Gentlepersons," Cooper chides the city for "continuing efforts to align regional agencies on one side or the other" in their battle over septic tank dispersal around the city.

Livermore's council fired off letters to the state's Regional Water Quality Control Board and Zone 7 of the county's water district charging the board is "ringing the city" with septic tanks that jeopardize the quality of the underground water supply.

Taking the nod from last week's supervisors' meeting, Cooper points to the Livermore Unitarian Fellowship's attempts to connect to the city sewer system.

The church appealed to the board for a septic tank permit when the city leveled some $30,000 in "side conditions" on to the sewer permit. The church would be required to build curbs and gutters and to provide lighting, landscaping and fire hydrants on the property before the city will grant the connection.

The congregation was prepared to pay some $3,000 to $5,000 to bore a 500 - foot connection line to link up with the city, but will have to "scrub the whole project," fellowship spokesman Bob Latham told the board.

(Latham said the simple sewer connection costs would be $3,000, but Cooper says $5,000 in his letter to the council.)

"Because of these excessive costs, due to your policies, it is likely that our board will grant the septic tank permit," Cooper says, suggesting the city "modify the conditions in this case."

Cooper warns that the county's approach to COVA "will be greatly influenced by your attitude towards" discussions via the valley wide agency rather than regional boards, adding, "...we thought (participation in COVA) meant that efforts would be made to communicate at the local level."

COVA's steering committee, composed of representatives from Valley Community Services District, Zone 7 and the cities of Livermore and Pleasanton, brought the county into its fold earlier this month as a non - voting, non - dues paying participating member.

Residents win motorcycle ban

PLEASANTON — Linear parks can have their own peculiar problems and one of them seems to have occurred at Valley Trails Park.

Motorcycle riders were cutting through the park, despite the efforts of local resident Myron Hanson to get out there and shoo them away — or in one case, make a citizen's arrest.

Since press publicity showed what a problem the noisy, fast bikes are in the park, the traffic has been cut considerably, according to Hanson's wife, Karin, who wrote a letter recently to City Manager Bill Edgar.

However, the city promised to post signs at the park announcing a ban on motorcycle riding there and the city has not delivered on that promise, Hanson alleged.

The Times checked Friday with Recreation Superintendent Robert Caporusso who noted that the city indeed has posted signs banning motorcycles. There is a sign at each of the two main entrances to the long linear park, he said.

There are 10 other access points to the park and the city doesn't have a budget which allows posting signs there, too, he said. Posting the signs at the main entrances covers the city's liability concerning notifying the bike riders about the law, said Caporusso.

Debate at Amador

Approximately 250 students from the Santa Clara, San Jose and Livermore - Amador Valley will compete in 10 events. These events include humorous interpretation, serious interpretation, extemporaneous and impromptu speaking.

The debate organizers need judges to evaluate the student presentors, preferably adults from the community.

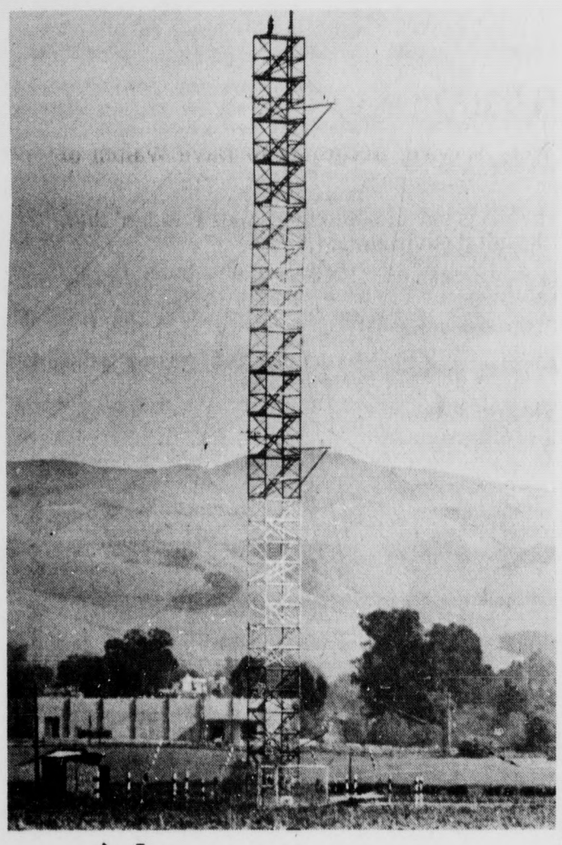
If interested in being a judge, call Jack Ogden of the Amador Valley High faculty at 846-9157 (home) or 846-2818 (school).



New on scene

The tall tower near Bernal Avenue and Interstate 680 has been up for a couple of months now and the questions trickle into our newsroom about why it's there. Southwest Research Corporation installed it, in cooperation with the U.S. Army, and it's a meteorological monitoring station. Data from the sample will be used in conjunction with a project that is monitoring the effect of Pleasanton's treated sewer effluent spray on the fields in the area. (Times Photo)

Expert outlines the facts about alcoholism

By LILLY AULT

"Alcoholism," says Webster's dictionary, "is a disease condition caused by excessive use of alcohol in liquors."

Steven Wright from the Detoxification Unit of Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley who claims he is "alcoholic" agrees with this and adds, "It's just like an individual having the misfortune of getting cancer. The alcoholic has to seek a 'cure' for his disease just as a person would seek help in controlling any other affliction of the body.

Wright further defined an alcoholic as "one who needs to drink while a social drinker is one who wants to drink. "Alcohol has a negative affect in a person's life," he says, "either it's affecting the individual on the job, home life or health," stated the worker at the hospital.

lifestyle

Nearly 81,000 people in Alameda County 'need' to drink. Are you one of them?

"Alcohol affects 200 different organs in a person's body. It is the third largest health problem facing the medical field today. Heart ranks first with cancer in second place," claimed the provocative speaker. "Everyone knows an alcoholic, either a friend, relative or someone in the family."

There are more alcoholics in the Bay Area than there are heroin addicts in New York City," he told the shocked audience of the Valley Memorial Hospital Auxiliary. "In Alameda County alone, there are 81,000 alcoholics." One out of 10 persons who drink is an alcoholic, according to Wright.

"One half of the murders committed, one fourth of the suicides and of the 55 million traffic accidents during the year, one half million are alcoholic related," Wright said. "Five billion dollars per year is lost in cost to industry through alcoholism with lost time, accidents on the job and low productivity when people are drunk on the job or hung over from drinking.

"Alcoholism cannot be limited to those who live on skid row who are much in need of help. Only five per cent of these people contribute to alcoholism while 95 per cent is accounted for from the working people or middle class people. Many alcoholics come from wealthy families or families the same as your own," he went on to explain to the attentive listeners.

Wright pointed out that one reason there are so many alcoholics is that half a billion dollars per year is spent on advertising alcohol. He further explained that "alcohol is grossly overused in our cultural, i.e., cocktail parties, sales conventions, lunches, etc. Pushing drinking is an everyday habit."

According to Wright, 46 million gallons of alcohol are purchased per year in this country. "That's one quart per day for every person," he said, adding, "and since there are some people who don't drink, others are drinking more than their share."

"The idea of better living through chemistry needs to be changed," stated Wright. "If it's not the drug alcohol that people are hooked on its some pill."

In relating his statistics, Wright stated that teenage drinking has doubled in the last 10 years. Reasons for this," he said, "ordering alcohol is a 'badge' of adulthood or manhood and the drinking message that generally comes over television shows adults with a drink in their hand when they are coping with problems."

Alcoholism is also increasing in the senior citizen populace Wright reported. "The elderly have been social drinkers for a long time. Life changes for them, the children leave, the spouse dies and then the senior begins to feel lonely or lost and turns to drinking for comfort."

Wright feels with greater information and publicity on alcoholism there are more and more people turning for help without feeling embarrassed. "Being an alcoholic woman was considered to be much more undesirable than an alcoholic man," he said, "yet four out of five persons who seek help are women."

Symptoms of an alcoholic are denial of a drinking problem; loss of control of one's self when drinking; stopping to have one drink and then ending up having more and more; blackout; no recollection of what was said or done; personality change and creating an argument when getting home for an excuse to go out and get drunk."

"Keep in mind," Wright told the audience, "the quantity of time in drinking is not as important as the effect the alcohol has on a person. Most people can drink, and for them it is a nice drink used in moderation. However one out of 10 people should not drink."

It is Wright's feeling, along with others, that alcoholism is a chemical and genetic reaction in an individual's body. "Some people's makeup just cannot tolerate alcohol," he explained, "just as some people cannot eat sweets, drink milk, etc."

The first step for a person to take in being cured from the disease of alcoholism is "to admit being an alcoholic."

Families and friends should not cover up or make excuses for the alcoholic," says Wright. "If a person has to hit bottom to realize he is sick, let that individual do so and the quicker it is allowed to happen the better it will be for the person involved.

Prolonging the fact by making excuses, Wright said, "leads to more and more harm to the body with the continued consumption of alcohol."

Once cured from the disease, Wright stressed, an alcoholic should never attempt to drink socially. It only leads to bigger problems than what he had before the cure. Records show that 25 per cent of alcoholics who return to drinking are arrested, wind up in a hospital or are involved in an auto accident.

"In one way," stated the speaker, "having the disease of alcoholism can be looked upon as being good, as there is a definite cure for the disease."

The best way for assistance in getting rid of alcoholism, in Wright's opinion, is to enter a hospital which offers recovery service from the disease.

St. Rose Hospital in Hayward is one such facility offering a "Careunit," an alcoholism recovery service. According to Dave Walton of that establishment, "The atmosphere which prevails is one of being more like a 'lodge' than a 'hospital environment.' "

For further information and a tour, by appointment, of that hospital, call 783-6544.

Other areas offering treatment for alcoholism are Alta Bates Hospital in Berkley; Sequioa Hospital, Calistoga and Mary's Help in Daly City.

Smokers answer

If you would like to quit smoking but don't know how to do it — the American Cancer Society and Contra Costa County Health Department have something for you.

A smoking cessation clinic will be held at the San Ramon Family Medical Center of Valley Memorial Hospital beginning Oct. 28.

The clinic will be run by "facilitators" or ex - smokers, because as any smoker knows, the experience of quitting smoking is best understood by those who have accomplished it.

The clinic is offered at the cost of materials and facilitator time — $15. The same kind of clinic offered by private organizations might otherwise cost patients up to $300.

To enroll in the clinic which continues for eight 2½ hour sessions from 7 to 9:30 p.m., call the American Cancer Society at 934-7640. Registration may also be made at the first session.

You are cordially invited to a Retirement Dinner in honor of Paul Kral on Thursday, November 18, 1976, beginning with a no-host cocktail hour at six-thirty in the evening, Castlewood Country Club, Pleasanton, California.

Ten dollars per person includes gift.

Crash victim needs blood

Blood donations are being asked for Richard Keith, 20, victim of a traffic accident on Interstate 580 last week.

Keith crashed into a detour sign in the road construction in the Dublin Gap and his pickup truck exploded, burning him over 90 per cent of his body.

Keith is in the burn center at Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley. He has a rare type of blood and has been using quite a bit of blood. Anyone may donate blood in his name to any bloodmobile.

Keith is a San Leandro resident. His mother, Josephine Keith, and his aunt, Bev Paiva, used to work at the Dublin Corral. For more information about the blood donations, call Betty Otting, 828-5218.

More on cityhood and taxes

DANVILLE — Incorporation will not increase taxes in the San Ramon Valley according to Town Now, proponents of cityhood for Alamo, Danville and San Ramon.

They maintain the 25 cent per $100 tax stated on the Nov. 2 ballot will replace the 25 cents now levied by R - 7 Parks and Service Area in Alamo and Danville. It will also replace 25 cents of the Valley Communtiy Services District (VCSD) tax in San Ramon.

Under a new state law (Revenue and Taxation Code, Section 2286) the town council cannot increase property tax without a majority vote of the people according to Town Now.

They contend the P - 2 Police Service Area and the R - 7 Park Service Area will be abolished placing them under town jurisdiction. This would provide the basis for a .04 cent per $100 tax rate decrease in Alamo and Danville when town controlled police service is put into effect.

The Town Now report says the proposed town budget provides nearly $1 million for police. It also recommends that the 25 cent amount (approx. $455,000) continue to go for parks.

They say the 25 cents per $100 town tax raised in South San Ramon will be transferred to VCSD. In turn, this will reduce the VCSD tax rate for South San Ramon property owners by 25 cents per $100. Since San Ramon is not in the P - 2 Police Service Area, there will be no tax rate change for those residents according to Town Now.

They further report that other county service areas will be re - formed under the auspices of the new town.

Forum endorsement sought

SAN RAMON — The Valley Action Forum will hold a regular membership meeting Oct. 27, 8 p.m. in the San Ramon Valley Education Center.

VAF members will be asked to vote on a position statement regarding incorporation of Alamo, Danville and San Ramon. A recommendation has been made by VAF board that the issue should receive a YES vote. They urge San Ramon Valley citizens to do the same.

They maintain all areas of local services could be better coordinated through local government. According to VAF the cities of Lafayette, Pleasant Hill and Moraga have demonstrated incorporation does not require an increase in tax rates.

Another agenda item pertains to the VAF making specific recommendations to the school board through a committee. Discussion of this proposal is open to interested parties.

John B. Edmands, Editor and Publisher

Is it Murphy or Raymond?

When Valerie Raymond appeared as the number one challenger to Supervisor John Murphy's First Supervisorial District post in the June primaries, this newspaper withheld any recommendation because we wanted to see what Ms. Raymond would show us and the electorate, in the course of that long campaign.

Regrettably, we have seen nothing to convince us that Ms. Raymond would offer us new, vibrant, enlightened representation in that important county office.

"Regrettable" because Valerie Raymond is a local resident, a determined activist and a worthy challenger for any public figure. But it is one thing to challenge, and something else to actually fill that post.

We admire Valerie Raymond's spunk. We respect her curiosity about all things governmental or environmental. But there is more, very much more, to county government than even those attributes.

Supervisor Murphy has often been frustrating, never fully understandable and rarely — if we can believe his critics — "available when you need him most." It is in fact John Murphy's shortcomings which have been the central theme of all that campaigning by all those challengers, dating back to last spring.

But in laboring mightily to point out the incumbent's faults, the challengers failed to give us a clear insight into their own platform, the change in direction they would offer, if they held that office.

Mr. Murphy carries the burden of the incumbency, inviting also a thorough review of his private and professional life which was never given any of the challengers, including Valerie Raymond. Whatever his faults — and he has his share — John Murphy is at least well known to the Valley he has served for over 16 years.

We know that he is for the property owner, for private rights, and — when forced to make a choice — for the rancher and against a park district's takeover. Murphy has been soundly rapped by his critics for this stance.

We suggest that is a strength worthy of more careful review, by those of us who own property, pay taxes and enjoy the "private" but uncluttered open spaces which make up eight - tenths of this basin.

Ms. Raymond has expressed concern for social causes ... for better welfare programs, for cleaner jails, and indeed for many of the same "needs" shared by the congested, urban mass in the central and northern portions of Alameda County.

But there are already four supervisorial votes sensitive to those urban problems. The needs of this Valley are somewhat different, but certainly no less urgent. The trouble is we can rarely count on more than one vote on that county board; that representative must be tough enough, political enough to swing the majority our way, on the crucial issues.

John Murphy has that kind of moxie, that proven ability. If he hasn't always used it as we might have wished, it's often because we failed to communicate, failed to holler loud enough.

Valerie Raymond has been hollering, and we hope she keeps it up. But for now, and for the next four years, John Murphy is this Valley's best bet for effective representation on that county board.

The week in retrospect

'Dogcatchers'

The latest illustration of the level some campaigns are being waged on came earlier this week when Sen. Walter Mondale, the Democratic vice - presidential candidate, was quoted while in San Jose as saying the Ford - Dole ticket was "not even fit to run for dogcatchers."

Not having heard that reference since a sixth grade election many years ago, it was surprising to find that a candidate for the second - highest office in the land would get caught uttering it in public — in front of God and the news media — the party of the second part sometimes casting themselves as the party of the first part.

But the name - calling certainly hasn't been limited to presidential level candidates and cronies ... though it is hard to top the no-no's, boo-boos and blunders uttered by Carter, Mondale and Ford.

But running a close second to the mud - slinging is the Challenge - Your - Opponent - to - a - Debate gambit, followed by claiming misleading or incorrect political advertising.

Any candidate worth his or her salt issues a debate challenge or feigns one. And if can't get the right "forum," there's always a well - orchestrated outcry claiming your opponent is running misleading advertising or has signs placed illegally.

Latest group in the latter category to whine "foul" is the "Yes on Prop. 14" entourage. Their complaint hinges in part on the "No-on-14" claim that the proposition "would destroy basic property rights."

Just because the proposition would permit union organizers to set foot on farms at three specified times each day is no reason to believe property rights would be violated, rebut the Prop. 14 supporters. The fact is that farm workers ALREADY have the right to vote to decide who (if anybody) will represent them. That right exists under present law.

This initiatie repeals the existing law and mandates the legislature to spend whatever money necessary to administer the new law. The Agricultural Labor Relations Board will administer the funds. This is the same body that went over its budget for the year in six months!

This proposition does nothing to address a key farm labor - agriculture problem — the employment of thousands - upon - thousands of "illegals" who daily are imported or find their way across the state's borders to take jobs that should be filled by U.S. citizens. The answer to this problem is enforcement of stiffer sanctions on those importing and a more forceful and direct "discussion" with the Mexican government.

We cannot conclude this piece without a brief followup to Friday's editorial page column on the Simon - Mills reception and fundraiser earlier this week.

Upon further checking, the Mills campaign organization had contacted three television stations (Channels 2, 5 and 9) almost a week prior to the event and another GOP campaign worker had contacted ALL major Bay Area newspapers and ALL the San Francisco television stations.

No TV stations showed up and apparently only three newspapers — but after all it was JUST Bill Simon, the State Attorney General and a GOP Congressional candidate.

Fire assistance

Editor, The Times:

On October 17 we experienced a large fire at the Neii Armstrong School.

During the course of the fire we were assisted by several local residents, and I am taking this method to express to them sincere appreciation of the Valley Community Services District Fire Department for their assistance in helping us fight this very large and disastrous fire.

Dirty campaign

Editor, The Times:

Since my first letter on the Raymond campaign two weeks ago, I have been called in print a land speculator, a mysterious visitor, a trespasser, a hired wordslinger and a peeping tom. I have had three, four by four John Murphy campaign signs that I had placed on private property with permission torn down and destroyed.

The opposition has accused me of waging a dirty campaign.

I ask you who is waging a dirty campaign?

Bill Thompson
Livermore

Vote for 'N'

Editor, The Times:

I like to live in Livermore. But I am concerned about the inadequate police and fire protection in our fine city.

Please vote for proposition "N" on Nov. 2 for additional firemen and policemen.

Livermore only has .8 police and .9 firemen per 1000 population, while the Alameda County average is 1.6 and 1.4 respectively. National averages are 1.6 and 1.5 per 1000 people. Proposition "N" will only increase the ratio to 1.0 and 1.2 respectively per 1000 population.

Crime is increasing each year in Livermore.

We do need the increased protection for us all — the working population, the retired, businessmen, senior citizens, democrats and republicans, all parties, and ethnic groups, students and children.

Vote Yes on "N" for Livermore.

Dick Jenkins

For Lee Lambert

Editor, The Times:

I would like to encourage the voters of Livermore Area Recreation and Park District to cast their vote on Nov. 2 for director candidate Lee Lambert.

I have known Lee Lambert and his family since they moved to Livermore from Salt Lake City in 1967 and can honestly say I have never met a man more dedicated to improving the community.

Lee would, without a doubt, be one of the most enthusiastic, qualified and inovative directors to ever serve on the LARPD Board.

I remind all voters to use their vote wisely — elect Lee Lambert to the LARPD Board.

Illegal bikes

Copy of a letter to —
City Manager, Pleasanton

A few weeks ago the Pleasanton Times wrote an article about the motorcycle riders in Valley Trails Park. The article described a one - man fight against these illegal riders and, according to the story in the paper, signs would be posted in the park immediately warning riders of the offenses. My husband is the "off duty" cop that has been catching these offenders.

... In order to prevent further bike riders from riding through the park, I would urgently suggest you get those signs up "PRONTO." In order to have an effective police department and courts, it is your job to get something done...

If necessary I will get signatures from all of the homeowners who feel that this action is necessary. Since the article appeared in the paper few ... bike riders have been seen. I certainly hope that the signs will be posted throughout the park by the end of the month...

Postal clerks

Editor, The Times:

In your issue of October 20 I noted an editorial which implied — it seemed to me — that the "postal crew" in the new post office is not always a "pleasant" corps of people with which to do business.

I don't know whether the above criticism was meant to include the clerks or not. I wish to say however that I have visited the post office almost daily during the past seven years. In all that time I have found the clerks to be consistently pleasant, friendly, and delightful to deal with.

It has always been my conviction that a friendly greeting, a smile, even a word of encouragement on our part will go a long way toward producing the pleasant faces we desire to find in the post office and anywhere else.

The courteous manner displayed by these clerks is all the more remarkable in view of the sometimes harsh treatment to which they have been subjected in the past by irate customers — treatment which I have witnessed in person. If the editorial in question was called for, wouldn't it be nice to follow it up with one requesting the public to be a little more kind and a little less demanding.

Yours for good public relations everywhere.

School board

Editor, The Times:

I am a concerned parent and citizen of Dublin. On the night of Oct. 18 I attended my first school board meeting when Murray School Board met at Dublin Elementary. I came away from that meeting ... disappointed, dissatisfied and disgusted.

Now and then one board member appeared to almost doze off ... another sat looking out at the audience with what could only be described as a smirk, arrogant look...

To me, only one board member really came across with any kind of positive attitude ... complimenting teenagers on their well rounded presentation of the 7th and 8th grade program at Dublin Elementary would win her my vote, anyday. Her attitude was at least civil and humane.

What really "topped it off" was the board member who read several letters from the public ... he stumbled over a word and with a superior attitude remarked — "The only reason I stumbled over that word is that it is misspelled."

He made this remark publicly, belittling the lady who's name he had mentioned before ... I believe he owes her a public apology ...

I, at least, thought it was a very well written letter and that since she was concerned enough with the issue to take time to write the board ... she deserves a public apology.

School board members should remember they are servants of the public and give us some respect ... show a little "class."

Pipeline wrong

Editor, The Times:

This pipeline (LAVWMA) is headed in the wrong direction. It will carry much needed water away from the dry brown hills that surround this valley.

At this time sewer effluent is being used for growing grass near the Sunol Plant. Here it creates a green belt that supports over 400 head of cattle that graze year round. It provides a haven for water birds and most every kind of small animal, pheasants, doves and many other kind of bird. The Super Sewer will make a desert of this once beautiful valley.

Livermore has a beautiful golf course watered by effluent water from the sewer plant. The cities of the San Joaquin Valley operate large farms that are revenue producing not a "drag" on city finances. Do they know something that we do not?

LAVWMA says we must invest 29 million dollars to build a system to lift this water up over a 700 foot hill to dump it into the San Francisco Bay. Why is it San Francisco has been using water for over 40 years from a line that flows by gravity for 130 miles without a pump? This valley is over 300 feet above sea level and as everyone knows, the Alameda Creek (Niles Creek) has provided the outflow from this valley since the beginning of time. Why then all of a sudden must we pay the terrible expense of pumps to do what nature has been doing quietly for centuries?

Make no mistake about it this is another BART Boondoggle that will hang like a putrifying albatross around the neck of the valley taxpayer for the next generation.

Let's send the "X-Spirts" back to the drawing board to come up with a reasonable plan to solve our sewerage problem that taxpayers can support without a guilty conscience. Let's all vote NO on this silly "quick answer" to a long time problem.

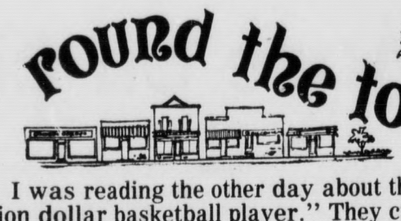
round the town



I was reading the other day about that "six million dollar basketball player." They call him "Dr. J." and, while he doesn't have a degree to take out your tonsils, he is well qualified to extract money ... mostly from millionaires who had extracted that loot from some other sucker. The system works!

It is getting so anybody who can bounce a ball, smack a puck or read clearly on television is an automatic millionaire. This is known as "selling your talents on the open market." I think, for some of us, the market is not so open.

My dear mother, God love her, would never have understood this quick course in millionairism.

"You have to be a famous doctor, or a very great writer," she would admonish me in those "how to be a millionaire" talks we would have. Usually in the dead of winter, when the prairie winds howled outside and inside our modest abode. The kitchen stove would offer the only surcease from those freezing winds, and we would huddle so close as to be almost in that oven.

Mother acknowledged that royalty should be rich, and John Barrymore, Jack London of course, and — she suspected — the man who had a corner on the Moose Jaw coal and wood business. But beyond that, "being rich" was a fantasy, like owning a nice car, or a new coat lined with sheepskin ... dreams to be shared with a warm kitchen stove, in the middle of a prairie winter.

Sometimes those dreams spurred us into action. Firing our ambition to "o'er leap itself," as the poet says. On that score, I guess, we weren't much different than the new millionaires of today. It's just that their dreams have bigger appetites.

Bobby Orr today signed a new multi - million contract for his services as the world's foremost hockey player. The signing came after weeks of negotiations between attorneys representing Orr, the Chicago Black Hawks and the National Hockey League. All parties expressed "gratification and relief" that the contract had worked out "to everyone's satisfaction."

Skating was the very reason for having winter at all, we were raised to believe. To fly across some frozen surface, hockey stick in hand, was as important as breathing, and no less difficult, in the sub - zero prairie temperatures. Sometimes we had no rink ... the city had failed, again, to flood the Ross Park area as promised ... the Dads were too busy shoveling coal ... and us kids had to organize our own forces, chop frozen snow into an imperfect rectangle, gain water from God - knows - where in sufficient quantity to provide us with a surface. With good luck and hard work, we would have our rink. The winter would not be wasted.

Sal Bando is holding out for a multi - year package of "a million dollars or more" and he seems certain to get it, but not from Charlie Finley. Hitting under .240 and with a spotty fielding record, Bando still insists "I'm worth every penny" of what he is asking.

In the spring our thoughts turned quickly from hockey to softball. There were four diamonds in Ross Park, but they were reserved for the Fastball Leagues. But a vacant lot near our house was being filled in with rocks and dirt and waste material from construction jobs ... by gathering up most of the larger rocks, and hopefully all of the glass, the lot was made flat enough to allow a ball to bounce ... or a kid to slide into second base with a minimum of damage. We stole some lime from the Byrd Woodall Construction Yard to outline the diamond ... the bats were mostly broken, but we could tape them up tight and they worked pretty good. All the kids said it was one of the best softball seasons we ever had.

Johnny Miller says "there is more to professional tour than making a million dollars on the tour every year." Miller, who has not been at his best, will have to be satisfied with some $250,000 in prize earnings this season, plus another half million in endorsment royalties. Johnny seems to take it all in stride.

Some of the older boys had sort of laid out this golf course on vacant lots around the neighborhood ... from the hills above the creek down onto the flat ... then back up around Young's house (but watch out for their windows!) ... across the creek again to another hole near the oil storage tanks, and then down along the railroad spur to the finish. There were only seven holes, but everybody figured it was a super golf layout. We even had real golf clubs ... the word was that "Gopher" Young had stolen them ... broke into a shed in the Byrd Woodall Storage Yard. But us little kids didn't talk about things like that.

Later, when our interest was turning back to hockey again, the police arrested "Gopher" ... he was charged with stealing a lot of things. Including those golf clubs. They sent him to reform school. Years later, I heard he wound up in prison.

But I only remember him as the older kid who helped build us a golf course, and make our impossible dream come true.

Cabbie!

Take Los Angeles.

No, this is not a Henny Youngman joke, but an exercise in comparative analysis.

Now again — visualize Southern California's vast metropolitan wasteland. Increase its size threefold and remove the used car lots and taco stands.

Add charm, heritage, fish-and-chips and brown beer and what have you got?

London.

Hold on a minute. It's not all that ludicrous. In one respect the cities are remarkably similar. Neither can be merely portrayed as the biggest dot on a Rand - McNally sketch. It takes a broad sweep of the hand to point out London on the map. Like smog - city to the south, it is an endless conglomeration of districts and suburbs. You could go for days and not escape the jurisdiction of the Greater London Council.

All of which makes the city a tourist's nightmare. Forget the travel bureau brochures. London Bridge is not next to the British Museum and Parliament nor is Hyde Park just a short jog from Trafalgar Square. You gotta know how to get there.

This shouldn't discourage visitors, because they do have a patron saint. He is the London cab driver — the most visual person in town.

If it's in London, he'll find it. You'll pay an exasperating price, but he'll deliver you at the front door.

The city's glimmering black taxi fleet merits study. Cabs are more proliferate than anything but bureaucrats. There are an insufferable number of those.

By agreement of the major independents and carrier companies, all taxis are four - door Austins, big blocky things with running boards. The crooks used to drive them in "The Untouchables."

Technologically, they are remarkable vehicles. A London cab could turn around in your diswasher.

It is tough enough to withstand the London cabbie who treats gas, clutch and break pedals like a poisonous spider — STOMP.

The drivers are renowned for excellent accident records. They are perilous, however. Most are kamikazee pilots who survived the war but have vowed to do better.

A London cabbie would drive the Rose Parade float through Macy's china department. He won't give up fourth gear till the transmission falls out.

He'll bounce a fare off four walls like an eight - ball. For a purpose. The fare won't notice his route. To inch up the charge some cabbies take you to Buckingham Palace by way of County Cork. That's in Ireland.

Most are honest. All know where they're going. To pass the cab driver's test, a candidate usually spends one full year pedalling around London on bicycle. He spreads a map across the handlebars, memorizing placement of the one way streets, blind alleys and hidden courts.

"But we can't know it all, you know what I mean?" pleads one distraught young driver in the midst of a Saturday traffic jam.

"This city goes on for miles and miles. You know what I mean? And some of the fares we get are great. They expect you to find anything. They'll want to go to a pub, and if you ask them what district the pub's in, they won't know. Well there are 10,000 bloody pubs in London. You know what I mean? And there might be 20 with the same name. Now how am I supposed to find them if they don't give me the district? You know what I mean?

By asking another cab driver.

"They may not be too good with the gears," says a retired man from Croyden, one of the endless London suburbs; "but they know their streets."

Some even know about ethics.

A London cabbie back tracked two miles in the rain one day, found a lady at The Old Cheshire Cheese restaurant, and returned a package abandoned in the back of his vehicle.

The lady was grateful. She tipped the driver. It was hard to tell whether she was more pleased to retrieve her package, or simply to have survived another nerve - jingling dash through London with a cabbie.

For Sunday, Oct. 24, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't let emotion rule your pocketbook today. You could overspend so much you'll blow the whole thing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Avoid legal negotiations or verbal commitments today. Things will not work out to your advantage.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Feelings could run high on the job today. Try not to overreact. You could become frustrated by dinner time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't depend on friends to show you a good time today. Your judgment is not all that good. Your trust in another could be misplaced.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) That fire you started at home yesterday is still smoldering. Don't expect the family to obey your every command today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't put anything in writing today and avoid altering anything you've previously agreed to. You'll take a loss if you do either.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Others can't be expected to help with financial problems today. You'll have to do so yourself or wait till another day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Partners will be unlucky if you're starting anything new today. Better to go it alone, but be certain you're not selfish in your approach.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do make this a day of rest. Your mind won't be on work. Mistakes could be costly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Stay away from crowds today. You're not in the mood for small talk and could make a bad impression on someone you care about.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The domestic scene isn't too harmonious today. It might be wise to buy a few things for the home to pacify the family.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful what you say today. Your statements could be blown out of proportion and cause you some unnecessary mental anguish.

Mats romp over Mustangs

Getting the big play when it needed to and surviving a flurry of penalties that gave the game the air of a Flag Day parade, Granada High School remained tied for first place in East Bay Athletic League football with a 35-6 win over Monte Vista yesterday in Livermore.

The win, coupled with San Ramon's triumph over California and Foothill's upset of Dublin, left the Mats, Wolves and Falcons with identical 3-1 EBAL records.

Although Granada's league-leading running back Vance Rushing failed to gain 100 yards for the first time this season, he had perhaps his best all-around game. He picked up 85 on the ground, passed for 22 and caught three passes for 68 yards.

The Matador's passing attack was the best its been all season, as substitute quarterback Steve Robison entered the game early in the second quarter and passed for 165 yards, completing nine of 11 passes.

Starter Bill Parness completed only one pass, but that was for a 21-yard touchdown. It all added up to what Mat linebacker Larry Burke called the Mats best effort of the season.

Coach Don Couch didn't disagree.

"I'm happy with everyone, I'd hate to single anyone out," he said. "I think Monte Vista is the toughest, most aggressive team we've played this season. They're very physical."

Obviously. The Mustangs were guilty of 13 unrefused violations for a total 114 yards, but the Mats countered with 10 penalties that set them back 100 yards.

Monte Vista was always playing catch-up, though, as Granada scored on the first offensive series of the game.

Moving the ball 43 yards on eight carries by Rushing, Parness and Kurt Honodel, the Mats appeared content to grind out the yardage. But, on second and nine at the Mustang 21, Parness found Brian McSharry curling over the middle for a touchdown.

"We had to see if we could run," said Couch of the early drive. "When they tried to stop that, it gave us the pass."

The pattern, which finds the receiver curling through the seam of an opponent's would-be zone has aided Granada all season.

"It's a read pattern," explained Couch. "We want to do the opposite of what the defender does."

The Mustangs nearly tied it on the first play of the second period. Dave Cowan ran a cone pattern and found the ball despite a slap by defender Rushing that altered its flight.

Craig Robinson missed the PAT attempt and Monte Vista never got close again.

After another Rushig-led drive, Granada scored when Vance slammed into the end zone standing up to make it 14-6 with 8:09 left in the half. But the fun was yet to come.

Times SPORTS
Dave Weber, Editor

With not much more than a minute to go, the Mats were on their own 40. But a 21-yard pass from Robison to Rick Bosch, a 22-yard halfback pass from Rushing to McSharry and a 20-yard slither around the MV linebackers by Robison gave them TD number three.

Quarterback Bart Adams had his pass intercepted by Robison on the Mustangs first play after the kick-off, setting up the fourth Granada touchdown.

Robison first hit Rushing for a 23-yard gain on a sideline, before burning Monte Vista's Phil Wood on the following play. Wood made a lunging try at an interception, but Robison threaded the needle to Steve Waldera, who spun away at the nine and into the end zone.

The ever-present Rushing set up the Mats final TD with a 54-yard punt return that ended at the one with screen pass to the right Vance struggling to get into the end zone. However, that chore was saved for Robison, who faked to Rushing and rolled around left end to finalize the score with 3:48 to play.

Fanciers of the bizarre would've loved the first series of that fourth quarter.

Moving 51 yards to set up a first and goal at the Mustang three, Granada did one of the most elaborate backpedaling acts in history. Four consecutive 15-yard penalties against the Mats — variously, two holds, a clip and, most probably, an illegal left turn — left them with a first and goal at their own 37.

That's 63 yards, sports fans. Hoping to avoid a repeat of that incident, Granada meets California next week while Monte Vista faces Foothill.

Kane sets mark as SJ wins

SAN JOSE — Former Amador Valley High School running back Rick Kane broke the career rushing record for San Jose State when he rushed for 63 yards in 16 carries as the Spartans took a 21-7 victory over Fresno State in a Pacific Coast Athletic Association game at Spartan Stadium here last night.

Kane now has 1,752 yards for his career at SJS. Rayford Roberson, a former Dublin High star, had nine unassisted tackles, and two recovered fumbles for the Spartans.

James Tucker scored twice for the Spartans. The other San Jose touchdown came on a 13-yard pass from quarterback Steve DeBerg to Vic Rachashani in the third period.

Kane broke the record with 1:54 left in the first quarter on a six-yard run. He had 17 yards in seven carries in the first half.

Johnny Johnson held the former career rushing mark of 1,700 yards. He set the old mark during the 1962 season.

Dankworth shakes injury as UCLA routs Bears

BERKELEY — The Rose Bowl dream of the University of California Golden Bears was turned into a nightmare yesterday as the visiting UCLA Bruins scored three second half touchdowns and rolled to a 35-19 PAC-8 victory.

The injury-ridden Bears, unable to maintain the first half momentum that brought them to within a point of the undefeated Bruins, 14-13, at the intermission, were totally dominated inhe final two periods.

Despite coughing up the football to Cal six times during the day's play, UCLA churned up 429 yards of offense and limited the Golden Bears to just three first downs in the second half.

After UCLA burst to a 14-0 lead in the opening period, Cal came back as the defense forced fumbles on each of the Bruins next four opportunities.

Cal safety Anthony Green, later voted the game's Outstanding Defensive Player, came up with three of the loose balls and the Bears came away with a touchdown by Fred Besana and a pair of Jimmy Breech field goals to close the gap.

But that was as close as the Bears were to get.

With 2:12 left in the third quarter, UCLA's monstrous half-back Theotis Brown, scored on a one-yard slant and Cal was through.

The powerful Bruins scored twice more and thoroughly shut down the Bears offense the rest of the way.

Besana, called to duty when Joe Roth suffered a sprained knee and ankle in the final play against Oregon St. last week, hit Jesse Thompson, also a sub, from 14 yards out with 32 seconds to go, but the Roses had already been picked.

"Let's face it, you can't hide from reality," lamented Cal coach Mike White. "You don't get to the Rose Bowl in this league with two conference losses. The only thing we can do now is spoil someone else's New Years Day. We're not going."

About his team's effort, White noted, "What it came down to was us not taking advantage of the opportunities when we had them. You've got yo do that against a team like UCLA - you just don't get that many chances agaisnt a team of that caliber."

And get the chances they did.

Besides the six fumble recoveries, the Bears also picked off an interception and ran off five more plays than did the Bruins.

"Hey listen, give all the credit to UCLA," white continued. "They're a great tema and deserve the win. Jeff Dankworth is a hell-of a fine football player."

Dankworth, the senior quarterback for the fourth-ranked Bruins, picked up top offensive laurels with 107 yards rushing on 18 attempts with eight completions in 12 pass attempts for antoher 83 yards.

Leading rusher for the afternoon was Speedy Wendell Tyler, who dashed for 132 yards on 19 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns. Leading ground gainer for Cal was fullback Tom Newton with 95 yards on 16 carries, including a 33-yard gallop in the second period that set up Cal's firs score.

Coach White, refusing to submit to pessimism, commented, "Don't make the mistake of writing us off for the rest of the season. The kids have worked hard enough and something great is going to happen to this team soon. They deserve it."

AV offense breaks loose, stuns Pokes

It took a little while but Amador Valley High School's offense, plagued by injuries and mistakes for half the season, finally got untracked Friday night as the Dons upset host Livermore 20-7 in the 54th contest of the East Bay Athletic League's oldest rivalry.

The Dons thus picked up their first EBAL win of the season against three loses while Livermore dropped to 2-2, a full game behind in the title race.

Amador's rushing game, which has been erratic all season due to injuries, rolled up 161 yards and maintained ball control against the bigger Cowboys.

Amador Valley ran off 70 offensive plays to just 49 for the Cowboys.

The Don defense also did its job well, holding Livermore to a mere 157 yards total offense, 115 passing and 42 on the ground. The Pokes were the EBAL's leading offensive unit coming into the contest, averaging 343.3 yards per game but the Dons brought that down in a hurry.

Livermore quarterback Rick Gildea was sacked four times by the aggressive Don defense, led by Dave Sebahar and Kevin Hart.

Amador put the Pokes in a hole early as the Dons struck for two touchdowns in the first quarter, both coming on passes from Pat Inglesby to Mike Goodison.

After stopping a Livermore drive at the Don 34 early in the first period on the opening series of the contest, Amador went 66 yards in eight plays, with Goodison's four-yard pass from Inglesby for the touchdown coming with 7:39 left in the period. John Sevo's PAT attempt was perfect and Amador Valley had a 7-0 lead.

The big play in the drive was a 31-yard run by tailback Rob Flores, who scampered down to the Cowboy nine. Inglesby hit Rick Garcia for 12 and Goodison for 13 yards on successive plays to keep the drive alive.

Amador struck again late in the period after Al Gardner recovered a Gildea fumble on the Poke 19. From there it took the Dons thee plays before Inglesby hit Goodison on a 14-yard pass over the middle for the score. Sevo's kick was again good and the Dons seemly had a secure lead.

However, the Pokes came back with a 40-yard scoring drive near the end of the half for their only TD of the game.

After Amador was forced back to its own 10 by a tough Cowboy defense the Dons were forced to punt. It took Livermore just five plays to drive in for the score.

Gildea hit flanker Charlie Bockover for 15 yards to the Don 25. After an incomplete pass Gildea found Bob Tarte for 10 more big ones to the 15. Two plays later he hit Les Jacobs for 14 yards to the Don one. Gildea bulled over for the score on the next play with just 15 seconds remaining in the half. Bockover's kick was good and the Pokes seemed to have momentum on their side going into the second half.

However, it was not to be.

Amador's defensive line began to assert itself in the third period.

On Livermore's first series of the quarter the Dons stopped them for three straight loses. From then on the Livermore offense was held in check by the fierce Amador Valley pass rush.

The Dons put the final touchdown on the scoreboard with just three seconds left in the third period. Flores drove over from the one to cap a 64-yard drive. The running of fullback Mike Hoff, who has been brothered by a slight injury in recent weeks, sparked the drive. He carried the ball six times for 52 yards in the drive and did a fine job of blocking for Flores.

Two other Amador drives stalled when Sevo, who is still recovering from an injury, missed long field goals.

Fumbles hurt the Cowboys as they coughed up four of them.

After the contest Don coach Fred Wood calmly praised his team's efforts.

"It was our best all-around effort of the season," he admitted. "Our offense was really moving because we practiced a lot on our sprint outs and they worked.

"Our whole line, both offensive and defensive, did a great job too," he went on. "Sebahar did a good job and Inglesby moved the team well."

Other Don linemen who stood out were Bob Koopman and Gardner.

SR rally tops Cal

DANVILLE — Tenth - ranked San Ramon Valley High, despite being down by 14 points at the half, turned three California miscues into touchdowns Friday, as the Wolves defeated the Grizzlies, 26-21, in pulstating East Bay Athletic league football action.

With the win, San Ramon is 3-1, good for a first - place tie, Cal is winless at 0-4.

First year Lobo coach Lyle Setencich offered, "We didn't plan it this way. We've played three games like this." And Friday's match was no exception.

Jim Schumann, a junior guard started it off for SR. Schumann picked off a Tom Woodmansee pass at midfield and returned it to the Cal six-yard line.

Three plays later, quarterback Guy Houston, playing in his first EBAL game of the season, found John Arnaudon, last week's Flecto award winner, on a routine down and out pattern. The third period score made it 21-13 with 4:13 to go.

"I knew we could come back. We really got fired up at the half," Arnaudon recalled.

Moments later, the Wolves blocked a Grizzly punt, recovered, and on their first possession, Bret Allen went 20 yards for 21-19. Allen, only a junior, rushed for 117 yards in 17 carries.

Again, San Ramon's hungry defense got a hand on a Tracy Nodlinski punt. This time placing the ball on the Grizzly 31-yard line. And, ironically, on the first play, Charlie Brice dashed 31 yards for the go ahead tally.

Cal, meanwhile, was most impressive in its first annual homecoming game.

The Grizzlies' Chris Miller, who led all rushers with 161 yards in only 12 carries, put Cal on the board — less than four minutes into the excuriating match.

Gaels topped, 12-0

The Falcons are for real

Foothill High, once and for all, has proved its point.

The Falcons are a definite force to contend with in the East Bay Athletic League. Possibly the most potent force after Friday night's unquestionably surprising 12-0 whitewash of powerful Dublin in Pleasanton.

The scoreboard clock was not working at Amador's Patterson Field, but Falcon coach John Lupoi knew all along what time it was. Coupled with last week's equally astonishing 15-0 scorch of Amador, Lupoi's troops have held opponents scoreless for eight quarters.

Quite a feat, considering the Gaels were expected to be well up for the game following the previous week's 21-7 loss to Granada. The Falcons remained tied for first in the EBAL with a 3-1 record, while the Gaels dropped to 2-2 and now must win virtually all remaining games to have a shot at the title.

"I'd have to say this is the most satisfying win we've had," Lupoi offered while savoring the precious victory. "We've never beaten Dublin before. Dublin is definitely our biggest win." By never beating Dublin before, Lupoi was referring to the years Foothill played the Gaels while not a varsity club in the EBAL.

But Friday's game was official, and it left Dublin coach Wayne Re with a gloomy outlook on the season. "We'll try and play them one at a time, and finish up with a decent record," Re sadly mentioned after the game.

The Falcons held Jim Boulware to 88 yards rushing and responded with three key interceptions in the second half of Sean Mays aerials to thwart potential Dublin scores.

The Falcons pieced together a 65-yard drive in an abbreviated first half to go up 6-0. Russ Humphreys capped the 14-play drive by running the ball in from the one. Without the scoreboard clock, the first half took only 35 minutes to complete, due mainly to the official's mode of timekeeping.

The Gaels managed just 16 plays in the first half, while the Falcons rattled off 25.

Foothill picked up two first downs in the long drive on passes from Kevin Henderson to Chas Dean and Jeff Johnstone. Henderson passed just eight times on the evening, completing three, but the limited passing proved to be a plus.

"If we felt Dublin was back playing for the run, we would pass," explained Lupoi, whose limited pass philosophy has been successfull all season.

Foothill scored again with 2:50 left in the third quarter on Humphrey's 30-yard burst from scrimmage. Humphrey, Craig Johnson, Brad Cotton and Kevin Henderson led a balanced Falcon rushing attack. The Falcons, who started the drive from the Dublin 40, stopped the Gaels on fourth and inches and scored after Henderson picked up an initial 10-yard gain to the 30, setting up Humphrey's blast.

Foothill's front line of Tony Trujillo, Kevin Coyne, Jon Ulrech and Scott Marshall gave the Gaels trouble all night, sacking QB Mays on occasion while stopping the Gaels four times on fourth down tries.

Both teams preferred to take their chances on fourth down plays. Not a single punt occurred in the game.

Rick Henderson grabbed two errant passes from Mays, the first one at the beginning of the second half when Gaels drove to the Foothill 33. Henderson intercepted at the eight-yard line.

"I just wait and watch," explained Henderson, who also intercepted Mays on the last play of the game. He admitted the Dublin receivers were tough, but coyly added, "For five yards they were tough."

Rich Kruppas's interception of Mays' sideline pass at the Falcon 40-yard line with 4:00 left in the game closed the book on Dublin.

The Falcon victory, coming before a homecoming throng that watched as lovely Jori Alexander was crowned homecoming queen, came on the heels of Amador's 20-7 upset of Livermore. Foothill's lone defeat came at the hands of the 'Pokes, 21-14.

Chabot edges West Valley

HAYWARD — Despite the fact several of their players played with injuries the Chabot Gladiators came through with a crucial 1-0 victory over a tough West Valley squad Friday afternoon in Golden Gate Conference soccer action here.

The victory gave the Gladiators a 5-2 mark in GGC action and kept them in the race for the league title. West Valley is now 4-4 and virtually out of the chase for the championship.

Kelly Clark, Casey Clark and Tim Wade all played with injuries against West Valley and gave strong performances.

Wade and fellow Livermore High School graduate Kenny Watts teamed for the contest's only goal.

The score came with 20 minutes left in the first period. Mike Kury fired a long pass from the right wing to left wing Wade. Wade pushed the ball into the center near the West Valley net. Watts waited for the ball and smacked a shot past goalie Walt Wallace.

West Valley came back in the second period to put pressure on the Chabot defense. However, the Gladiators dropped back Kelly Clark and played a good defensive game.

Raiders host improved Packers

OAKLAND — The Oakland Raiders will host one of the National Football League's most improved teams when they tangle with the Green Bay Packers at 1 p.m. in the Coliseum here today.

Coach Bart Starr's Packers have moved into second place in the tough NFC Central Division on the strength of consecutive wins over the Detroit Lions, 24-14; the Seattle Seahawks, 27-20 and the Philadelphia Eagles, 28-13.

The Raiders also enter this home-coming game on a winning note, having defeated Denver 17-10 in Colorado Sunday. The victory over the Broncos concluded a five-game road swing for the Raiders and raised the season's record to a division-leading 5-1 mark.

This will be only the third regular or post-season meeting between the Packers and the Raiders.

On January 14, in Miami's Orange Bowl, the Packers, under the legendary Vince Lombardi downed the Raiders, 33-14 in Super Bowl 11. In September, 1972, the Raiders brought home a 20-14 win from the first visit to Green Bay.

The Packer offense, which has scored 79 points in the last three games, is led by quarterback Lynn Dickey, a fifth-year pro out of Kansas State. Dickey has hit on 60 of 135 passes for 750 yards and four touchdowns.

Starting at one backfield apot for the Packers is power runner Barty Smith, a 6-4, 240 pounder who was Green Bay's number one draft choice two years ago. Smith leads the club in scoring with five touchdowns, has rushed for 265 yards and caught 10 passes. John Brockinton, second leading rusher in Green Bay history, will also see considerable service behind Smith.

The speed back for the Packers is Willard Harrell, a UOP product, who has gained 232 yards rushing plus 115 yards as a pass receiver, including a 69-yard touchdown reception against the Eagles this past Sunday. Harrell is also a threat on the halfback run-pass, having set an all-time NFL record last year by throwing the option pass for touchdowns in three consecutive games.

On defense Bart Starr offers an all-veteran team that has Clarence Williams and Alden Roche at the ends and Mike McCoy and Dave Roller inside at the tackles. This rush line has already sacked quarterbacks 22 times.

Raider coach John Madden will go with the same offensive unit that has earned the Raiders a slim one-game lead in the AFC Western Division lead over San Diego.

Ken Stabler, who hit on 16 of 20 passes against the Broncos, will start at quarterback with Clarence Davis and Mark Van Eeghen at the running backs.

Cliff Branch is the team's leading scorer with 36 points on six touchdown receptions, and Fred Biletnikoff, who had his season high with five receptions in Denver, are the wide receivers. Dave Casper, Oakland's top receiver with 34 catches this season, starts at tight end and he is a good one.

The Raiders have been hurt on defense with several injuries this season. However the addition of John Maruszak has aided the Oakland defensive line. Otis Sistrunk, an outstanding veteran and the only first string defensive lineman, starting from last year, is another standout.

Cards edge Cougars

PULLMAN, Wash. — A one-yard touchdown run by Stanford running back Gary Lynn with 29 seconds remaining broke a 16-16 tie and boosted Stanford to a 22-16 victory over Washington State in a Pacific-8 Conference football game Saturday.

The running of sophomore fullback Phil Francis helped sustain Stanford's winning drive, which began on the Cardinals' 25-yard line with less than six minutes left in the game.

Stanford led at the half 10-6, but a 27-yard field goal by Chuck Diedrick brought the Cougars to within one point.

Stanford made the score 16-9 when quarterback Guy Benjamin threw a 27-yard pass to Lynn in the fourth quarter. The extra point attempt failed.

Then Washington State came back to tie the game at 16-all. Cougar quarterback Jack Thompson found receivers Brian Kelly and Eason Ramson for long gains. Ray Williams capped the drive with a touchdown, speeding into the end zone from the four-yard line. Diedrick's extra point knotted the score at 16, breaking a Washington State point after touchdown record with 43.

Washington State scored first after an 85-yard drive in 11 plays in the second quarter. Thompson threw to Kelly, who ran crossing patterns over the middle for gains of 21 and 29 yards.

Fullback Dan Doornink picked up a first down on the 11, and on the next play Thompson was chased from the pocket as he attempted to pass. The Washington State sophomore scrambled into the end zone.

A broken running play and fumble on the extra point attempt left the score at 6-0 with 9:36 remaining in the first half. — By Associated Press

Tony Dorsett of the University of Pittsburg is congratulated by his teammates after scoring his third touchdown of the day against Navy yesterday. Pittsburg won the game 38-0 as Dorsett broke Archie Griffin's collegiate rushing record of 5,177 yards.

Santa Clara University used a potent defense and the offensive ability of running back Mike Gill to overpower Northridge, 33-7 yesterday afternoon on the winners' field.

The Broncos's Gill took a four-yard pass for the first Santa Clara touchdown in the first quarter.

After Gill's performance the Bronco defense took over. The Santa Clara linemen forced a safety on a punt blocked out of the end zone and set up a 52-yard field goal.

In the second half the Broncos recovered another blocked punt in the end zone for a touchdown. Santa Clara added 13 points in the final quarter on a one-yard run and a seven-yard pass.

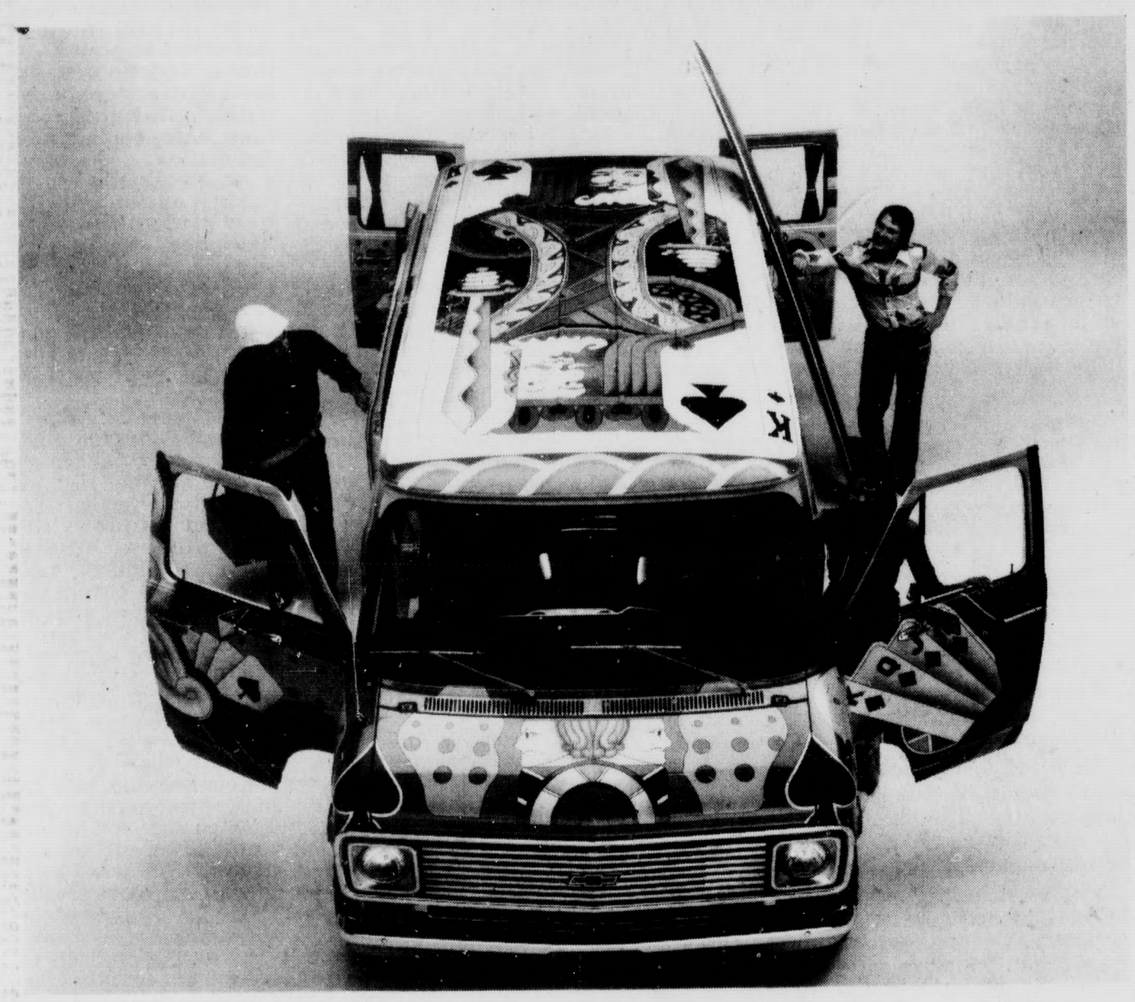
AUTO SHOW 1977



Datsun's skilled servicemen were once 'grease monkeys'

In the dawn of the automobile age, some wordsmith pinned the name "grease monkey" on mechanics.

He did the profession no favor. For years afterward, the phrase conjured up the image of a guy or gal forever condemned to busting his knuckles on a rusty bolt in some dimly - lit, damp, drafty garage.

Not any more. Today a highly - skilled mechanic (make that "service technician") at an auto dealership may pull down $20,000 a year or more. Oh, he or she is still plagued by frozen fittings, but more often he's monitoring an oscilloscope or some other exotic piece of diagnostic equipment.

The industry in general has taken a new attitude toward the service department. The back shop is no longer regarded as a necessary evil, but as a profit center and the best way to bring back customers at trade - in time.

At least one automaker and its dealers are putting service before sales. When Datsun introduced its F - 10 front wheel drive models here recently, service training experts first made sure that mechanics were thoroughly familiar with the new engine and drive train components.

Special tools and manuals also were supplied to shop personnel at Concord Datsun. It was only after the technicians had completed their training that the first F - 10 customer was allowed to take delivery on his or her new car. Thus, if a problem did develop shortly afterward, the customer could return, confident that the dealership had the knowledge to diagnose the trouble and the tools and parts to remedy it.

Long before the F - 10's were unveiled, Datsun engineers took a coupe and a wagon to Canada for extended cold weather performance tests.

It didn't matter that more than 250,000 front wheel drive Datsuns already had been proven and sold in Europe. These new models had enough new features to justify an expensive double check to make sure they would be letter perfenct before their U.S. debut.

After running the vehicles for more than 5,500 miles — often on nearly impassable roads — the experts could find but a single flaw: they recommended that one wire in the engine compartment be repositioned to guard against moisture.

Why all this emphasis on pre - testing and the mechanical end of what's supposed to be a sales - oriented business? Mike Murray, Datsun's national technical training manager, summed it up this way: "I guess we're committed to the motto that 1,000 good customers will bring 10,000 better customers."

Tri-Valley Datsun stresses top service

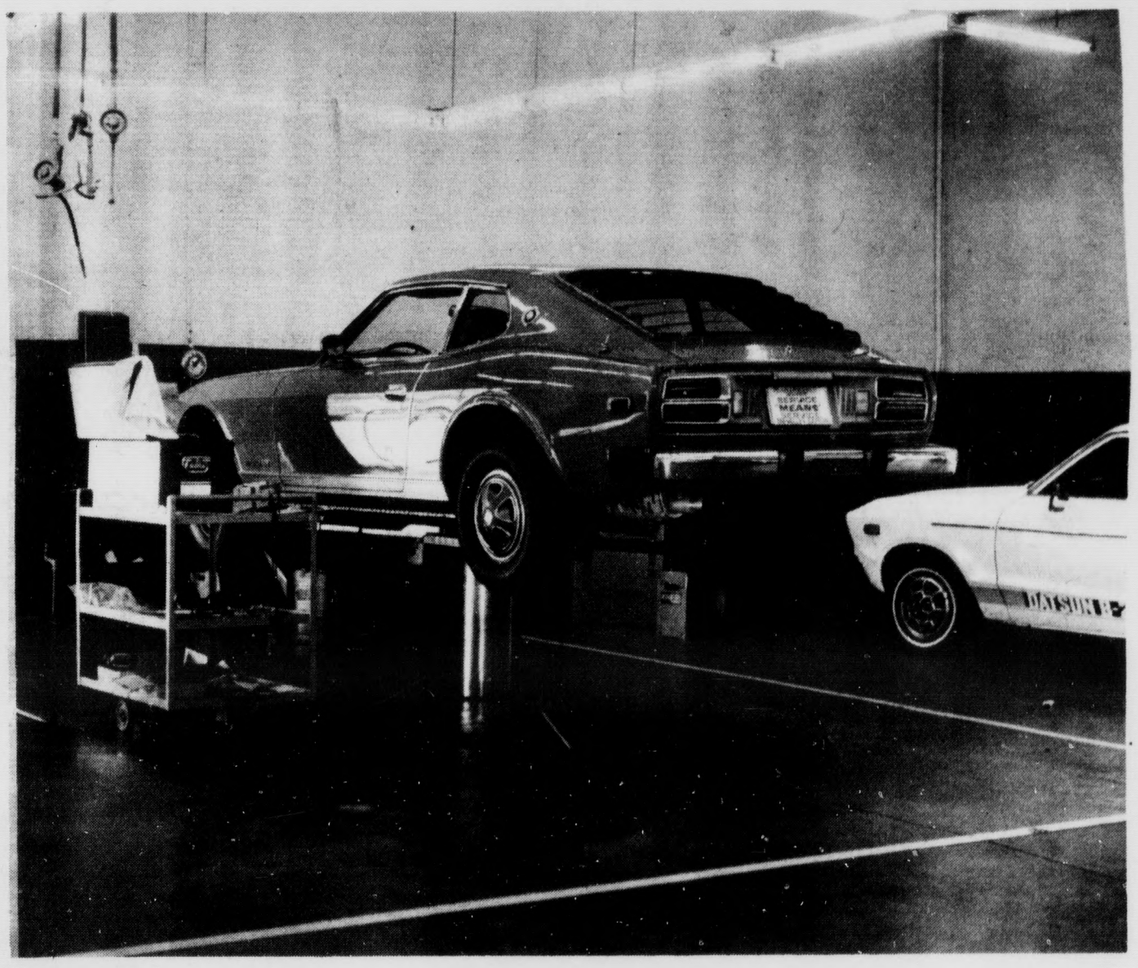
The people from Tri-Valley Datsun in Livermore are proud of their professional service center. Over $40,000 was spent on improvements last May, when they took over the former Abbes VW building.

Specializing in all Datsun vehicles, the service personnel give B-210 owners the same service that 280Z owners expect. All mechanics are factory trained and will soon be rated by the National Institute of Automotive Excellence in Washington, D.C.

Dennis Dethlefsen, service manager, remarked that his staff of ten has over 60 years of combined automotive experience. "Our competency and our professional approach allows us to have the most reasonable tune-up prices in the area," Dethlefsen stated.

A spade flush on wheels

This Chevy Van is a one-of-a-kind vehicle aptly tabbed "The Deck of Cards" and deals leisure-minded drivers a pat hand in traveling comfort. This vehicle has been featured at auto shows, fairs and other special events. The colorful exterior leaves no doubt as to how the van got its name. It highlights a multi-colored card theme and heart-shaped rear quarter windows. Inside, the "deck of cards" motif is continued with blue and white accents including sofa-sleeper, wine rack, ice box, sink, closet space, blue carpeting running up the walls and on the ceiling, throw rug shaped like the spade of the card deck. Up front is a specially trimmed instrument panel and high back, swivel seats in blue velour.



Toyota fuel economy rates high

Three 1977 Toyota Corolla models were rated at 42 miles per gallon on the highway in recent Environmental Protection Agency fuel economy tests conducted on new cars to be sold in California.

The three — a two-door sedan, four-door sedan and four-door wagon — also achieved 26 m.p.g. in the city during the agency's simulated driving tests. Their combined mileage, based on city and highway driving, was 32, m.p.g.

All were powered by a 1.6 litre, four-cylinder, hemi-head engine and equipped with a five-speed overdrive manual transmission.

"These Corollas, which registered an 18 per cent improvement in fuel economy over 1976, were among the best of any gasoline powered cars tested," said Norman D. Lean, vice president - general operations for Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc.

Lean added that the EPA's estimated annual fuel costs of $305 for each of the three vehicles "is also one of the lowest figures computed for cars to be sold in California."

He said the estimated cost is based on 15,000 miles of driving, the conbined mileage figure and gasoline priced at 65-cents per gallon.

Another Corolla two-door sedan, not available in California, achieved the best mileage of any gasoline powered car tested by the EPA. The car, equipped with a 1.2 litre, four-cylinder engine and a four-speed manual transmission, was rated at 49 m.p.g. highway, 36 m.p.g. city and 41 m.p.g. combined.

Lean said the best California and 49-state mileage performance was achieved by two Volkswagen diesel models, but said they won't be on the market until much later in the model year.

"The Corollas, scheduled to go on sale in November, are proof of Toyota's continuing commitment to provide the motoring public with economical, well-built cars designed with comfort and style in mind," he said.

New Cadillac styles

Contemporary elegance is evident from all angles of the 1977 Sedan (top) and Coupe de Ville, Cadillac's most popular models. Dimensionally, the De Ville, Brougham and Limousine models have undergone major exterior changes while interior compartment roominess remains basically the same. Prominent exterior dimensions for these cars are: Wheelbase — De Ville, Brougham: 121.5-inches, Limousine: 144.5-inches; width — De Ville, Brougham Limousine: 76.4-inches; length — De Ville, Brougham: 221.2-inches, Limousine: 244.2-inches; height: De Ville: 56.2-inches, Brougham: 57.1-inches, Limousine: 57.3-inches. In addition, Cadillac engineers accomplished dramatic weight savings in many areas of the new models through the use of advanced computerized technology and durable, lightweight materials. All 1977 Cadillacs, except the Seville, are powered by a new 425 cubic inch (7.0 litre) V-8 engine. The Seville is equipped with its proven efficient 350 CID (5.7 litre) V-8 electronic fuel injected engine.

Dramatic weight savings

Cadillacs show new design

The 1977 Cadillacs are highlighted by unique design changes and a new model realignment, according to Edward C. Kennard, general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Division and vice president of General Motors.

"Our engineers accomplished dramatic weight savings in many areas of the new models through the use of advanced computerized technology and durable, lightweight materials," said Kennard.

All De Ville, Brougham and Limousine models for 1977 use a traditional Cadillac grille with a large, horizontal pattern. Headlamps are at the extreme corners of the front fenders, achieving a wide front appearance.

"Rear styling of these cars is highlighted by a new vertical integrated taillight and side marker lamp positioned above the rear bumper," said Kennard.

"The rear deck is sharply sculptured to contribute to the more formal appearance, and to optimize trunk space," he added.

Kennard said the size, dimensions and weight for both the Eldorado and Seville in 1977 are vitually identical to the 1976 models. Both cars retain their distinctive overall appearance with interior and exterior design refinements.

De Ville, Brougham and Limousine models feature a new instrument panel highlighted by a "center control area," allowing easy driver and passenger access to the radio, climate controls, air conditioner outlets and accessory switches. All 1977 models use a newly designed two-spoke steering wheel.

Kennard described the engineering of the 1977 models as "representing the most advanced automotive techniques in the industry, including many which were developed in conjunction with our Seville project."

All 1977 Cadillacs, except the Seville, are powered by a new 425 cubic inch (7.0 litre) V-8 engine. The Cadillac electronic fuel injected engine in this displacement is optional for the De Ville, Brougham and Eldorado models. The Seville is equipped with its proven efficient 350 CID (5.7 litre) V-8 electronic fuel injected engine.

The use of four wheel disc brakes has been expanded, with the Seville and Brougham now joining the Eldorado with complete four wheel disc brake systems as standard equipment.

Extensive anti-corrosion features incorporated into all 1977 Cadillacs include the use of zinc-rich alloy, zincrometal (steel coated with zinc paint on one side before forming), and bi-metal moldings (stainless steel laminated to aluminum).

"Cadillac's use of contemporary techniques and materials makes our 1977 cars the most corrosion free automobiles we've ever manufactured," according to Kennard.

Additional customer value benefits offered on 1977 Cadillacs include:

- An optional AM/FM push button radio with 23-channel citizens band controls and integral AM/FM-CB power antenna, and an AM/FM push button stereo radio with digital display of time, date, elapsed time and station.
- An electronic cruise control option utilizing new "resume" and "advance" features allowing the driver increased flexibility for speed control.
- A standard trip odometer that resets to zero with the depression of one button.

The "special edition" Custom Eldorado Biarritz features padded elk grain Cabriolet roof, opera lamps, formal rear quarter windows and rear window, brushed chrome moldings, color keyed wheel covers and special accent stripes. Highlighting the interior is a standard 50/50 split front seat with unique pillow design seats covered in Sierra grain leather/vinyl upholstery.

Kennard said, "We are in the most exciting period of change and innovation that Cadillac has ever known with fewer models but more product flexibility, improved performance and economy.

"With the products we have, I am confident that Cadillac will not only continue its industry leadership, but also improve upon it.

Datsun's parts network reaches valley dealer

"For want of a shoe, ..." goes the old saying. A modernized version of that adage could apply to the parts end of the automobile business: "For want of a part, the repair job was lost. For want of a repair job, the customer was lost — for good."

Nearly a generation ago, that was the case for many importers who were just getting a toehold in this country. The pipelines that stretched across the oceans often produced a flood of cars but only a trickle of parts. And that's no way to run a railroad.

Importers quickly realized that if they wanted to succeed in the lucrative U.S. market, they had better have a parts network that was equal to or even better than their domestic rivals. The fact that overseas nameplates captured nearly 20 per cent of the market last year is evidence that they've found such a system.

Take, for instance, Datsun, which sold more cars and trucks in 1975 than any other importer. The company stocks more than a six months' supply of parts and has a 75 - day supply always on order from Japan. By air or land, it sends parts out to its 969 dealers, including Tri - Valley Datsun in Livermore.

Datsun's main depot in Compton, Calif., has more than 376,000 square feet — largest of any automobile importer. It stocks more than 57,000 parts numbers, more than twice as many as other depots.

If a part is not readily available, it is flown here from Japan by emergency air order. In addition, emergency orders from the main depot in Compton can be air freighted to any point in the U.S. within 24 hours. Datsun employs 40 expediters who check with depots and dealers around the country for needed parts.

Pared-down Chevy wagon

The 1977 Chevrolet Caprice Estate station wagon incorporates impressive weight savings and trim new smaller dimensions, but continues to provide big car roominess and comfort. Station wagon highlights for 1977 include a three - way tailgate, lockable stowage compartment in left rear quarter panel and utility tray in each quarter trim panel. The Caprice Classic and Impala wagons are available in two - seat or three - seat versions. A completely new car for 1977, the standard Chevrolet and wagons feature a new 116 - inch wheelbase and new body, chassis and frame design.

Chevy Caprice debuts

A completely redesigned 1977 Chevrolet Caprice will be offered in coupe, station wagon and sedan models. Boasting more fuel efficiency and safety effectiveness than past models, the Caprice has trim new dimensions and a 4.1 litre (250 - cubic inch), six cylinder engine and a smaller displacement 5 litre (305 - cubic inch) base V8. The six - cylinder engine is the standard power plant for sedans and coupes while the 5.7 litre (350 - cubic inch) V8 becomes the top optional engine.

Roomy Impala

New models of the 1977 Chevrolet Impala have more room inside despite the smaller exterior size. The Impala will be offered in a coupe, sedan and station wagon model. The manufacturer claims more fuel efficiency and safety in all models. There is more rear legroom and more front and rear headroom and more usable storage space in the trunk.

New mid-size cars

Ford has wide '77 choice

From subcompact to full - size, Ford Division's 1977 lineup offers customers the widest choice of car sizes available.

Heading the list are two all - new mid - size cars — the luxurious Thunderbird, a two - door hardtop, and the LTD II, offering sporty - looking two - door models as well as elegant four - door models and station wagons.

Other 1977 entries include the full - size LTD, with its renown for quiet, comfort and ride; the Granada, Ford's hot - selling "swing" car; Pinto, America's most popular subcompact; Mustang II, a small specialty car sales leader; Maverick, the proven, durable compact, and the highly popular Econoline Club Wagon. All 26 models in these eight car lines are now on sale at Ford dealerships.

"For 1977, Ford Division cars are uniquely in step with the market," said William P. Benton, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager. "Our lineup gives customers the opportunity to select the right size car to meet his driving needs."

The 1977 Thunderbird, for example, is a specialty car on a 114 - inch wheelbase. Overall length is 215.5 inches. Thunderbird offers high levels of standard equipment, a quiet, comfortable ride and excellent handling — all at an affordable price.

Ford Division's other new mid - size entry, the LTD II, comes in three series. The base LTD II "S" and mid - series LTD II each feature a two - door hardtop, a four - door pillared hardtop and a station wagon.

The top - of - the - line LTD II Brougham offers a two- and a four - door model, and the elegantly appointed LTD II Squire is Ford's high - series mid - size station wagon.

All LTD II models have a lean, sculptured look, yet offer six - passenger comfort.

"Both of these cars will greatly strengthen our position in the largest segment of the automobile market," Benton said.

"The Thunderbird and the LTD II two - door models give Ford Division a powerful one - two punch in the specialty or upper end of the segment, and the four - door LTD II models and station wagons are ideal for buyers seeking six - passenger comfort and other full - size car attributes — at a smaller price."

For 1977, all Pinto models have a new, sportier - looking front end. A new all - glass third door (a no - extra - cost option) gives three - door Pinto models a fresh, modern look, and, two- and three-door Runabout models are in a lower inertia weight class (2,750 pounds) — the same as the 1976 Pinto Pony models.

Addition of a Pinto Cruising Wagon in 1977 will greatly expand the subcompact's appeal in the youth segment of the automobile market. Other new Pinto options include a flip - up open air roof, a Sports Rally Package with tachometer and gauges and a four - way manual driver's seat.

In 1977, Granada becomes the first domestic car to offer a four - speed manual overdrive transmission as standard equipment.

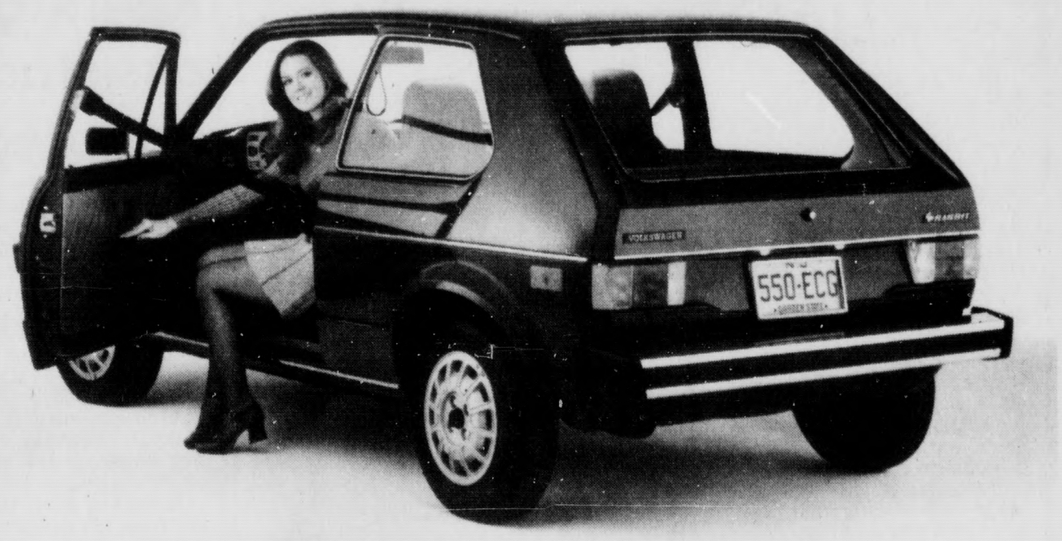
The Ford LTD remains full - size for 1977. The top - of - the - line LTD Landau has been repositioned into the price class of the LTD Brougham — which has been deleted from the line-up — but continues such standard luxury features as hidden headlamps, wide, color - keyed bodyside moldings and a high level flight bench seat with a fold - down center armrest.

Mustang II for 1977 offers a host of improvements, including added standard equipment on 2+2 models at no added cost, the flip - up open air roof and four - way manual driver's seat, a Ghia Sports Group and other exciting new options and money - saving packages that group popular optional items.

Maverick also offers new options and convenience features, including four - way manual seats, wire wheel covers and wide bodyside moldings.

New exterior paint, vinyl roof and interior trim colors add sparkle to the appearance of 1977 Ford Division cars.

To meet the U.S. government's more stringent 1977 model year emission control standards, most Ford cars have revised emission control systems that include a larger volume catalyst and Ford's new Duraspark high - energy solid - state ignition system which provides increased voltage at both starting and running speeds, allowing leaner air - fuel mixture and even longer spark plug life.



Front seat restraint

Volkswagen of America, seeking data on accidents involving Robbits equipped with front seat passive restraint system, had no reports of fatalities during the first 18 months the new model was on sale. WV's less costly alternative to air bags consists of an automatic shoulder belt and a padded dashboard bolster installed at knee level.

Dodge Charger offers surprise in its 1977 Special Editions

Sportier options, mechanical improvements, and a redesigned Daytona decor package are among a host of new features offered in the 1977 Dodge Charger Special Edition.

Charger SE has a new, distinctive chrome - plated grille for 1977, with a horizontal texture and a five - piece tape stripe application. The tape stripe is the same as the chosen body color.

SE also features a new hood tape treatment. The stripes are color coordinated with the vinyl roof and consists of a double stripe on the hood and grille panel. For 1977, Charger SE also features distinctive deck and side stripes.

Charger's fixed quarter window has been re - styled and squared to present a more formal appearance. These quarter windows are available with or without louvers.

Rear bumpers have been redesigned to accommodate new tail lamps which are set into injection molded nylon quarter end caps.

Charger SE offers, as optional equipment, a removable hatch roof. This new roof features tinted, see - through glass panels over the driver and right side passenger areas. They are easy to remove and can be stored in the trunk.

Charger continues to offer two vinyl roof designs in 1977. The halo and landau style roofs both are available as extra cost options. A new, blue color is being offered for the Charger landau vinyl roof design this year in addition to seven previously available shades.

The Charger Daytona decor package has been redesigned for 1977. A bold, two - tone paint treatment featured applied on the rear quarter panels and the front fenders extending to the doors.

The wide pontoon - shaped paint applications are available in three new color combinations: light blue / dark blue; pale yellow / medium gold; and medium silver metallic / black.

In addition to the new paint treatment, the Daytona also has stripes on the deck lid, cowl and roof line accent stripes. Racing mirrors, grille accents and Daytona decals also are included in the package.

A new corduroy cloth and vinyl seat material is being offered on the bucket seat for 1977. This new, soft to the touch material is available in three combinations: tan, red, and black. The latter two color offerings have silver accents on the seat inserts.

Joanne Kowal, secretary to Plant Manager B. J. Jurek, puts the proper tilt to the "Chinese hat" that was fashioned from a rear differential. Known to plant employes as Mr. Scrap, the metallic man was built from automotive parts gleaned from about 500 original equipment and service parts manufactured at the plant.

UFO's are real

PLEASANTON — Nuclear physicist and self - styled space scientist Stanton T. Friedman will present an illustrated lecture entitled "Flying Saucers are Real" Wednesday, Nov. 3 at the Amador Valley High School auditorium.

Friedman's appearance is sponsored by the Amador Sociology Speakers Bureau and will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $2 for students and are available through the high school.

More than 17 years of study and investigation have convinced Friedman that the "evidence is overwhelming that the Earth is being visited by intelligently - controlled vehicles from off the Earth." His updated talk covers data from several scientific UFO studies, misconceptions about UFOs, travel to the stars, landings and "ritter" reports, the faulty arguments of the "educated" non - believers — all from the viewpoint of the pragmatic scientist able to speak in language everybody can understand and with considerable humor.

Dow supported, smog study sought

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The Dow Chemical Co. plant proposed for Solano County along Suisun Bay picked up support from board of supervisors chairman Fred F. Cooper last week, along with another call for computer studies of air pollution sources in the valley.

Cooper, echoing Assemblyman Floyd Mori's subcommittee plans for hearings on employment and economic development in the state, wants the Association of Bay Area Governments' (ABAG) Environmental Management Task Force to look at the question as well.

He says the Environmental Protection Agency and the State Air Resources Board are "pushing" local governments to solve air pollution problems by 1982 when the policies and restrictions must come from the federal government.

Cooper charges that if "we will lose the Dow plant in 1977, other major industries will look at the Dow experience and decide not to even consider locating in California," thus "jeopardizing our economy and substantially increasing our unemployment."

More efficient auto exhaust systems patterned after Volvo's near pollution - free exhaust will enable the Bay Area "to handle five or ten Dow plants with no problem."

Cooper would have Dow and others clean up existing plants in the area "by an amount greater than the emissions created by the Dow plant." But the law, he argues, does not provide for such "trade-offs."

Cooper also calls for verification of a dozen postulations produced by a Metropolitan Transportation Commission computer analysis of air pollution in the Bay Area, specifically the source of pollutants in the valley.

He wants the "Difkin model" conclusions checked "for agreement or disagreement" with a prototype day in 1990.

That model, the board chairman says, show poilution in the valley is blown in from San Francisco and Marin Counties and is not generated locally. He argues that increasing or decreasing the valley's population will not effect the local air quality.

Mori's Pleasanton support

Assemblyman Floyd Mori has received the support from four Pleasanton City Council members and two law enforcement organizations in his bid for re-election.

Mayor Robert Philcox and Vice Mayor Joyce LeClaire combined with Councilmen Frank Brandes and Ken Mercer in backing Mori, himself a former member of the council.

"It's very gratifying to have their support," Mori said. "I'm looking forward to completing work with the council on some of the things we've been involved with this term."

Mori says he has sought the Las Positas overpass, extension of the life of Komandorski Village, and a city veto over nearby land fill projects on behalf of Pleasanton.

Mori received the endorsement of the Peace Officers' Research Association of California, an organization of some 240 peace officer associations which represent more than 20,000 individual California peace officers.

PORAC's endorsement is unique, Mori's office says, in that party affiliation is not considered. The endorsee stands on his own record of statements and actions, and must first be endorsed by PORAC affiliates in his area.

The California Organization of Police and Sheriffs has announced its support for the re-relection of Mori. COPS endorsement is given in recognition of a legislator's willingness and ability to deal with law enforcement related problems.

Attacks Stark's business

GOP Congressional candidate Jim Mills said that in spite of Pete Stark's rhetoric to the contrary, Stark has a terrible record with regard to small business. Mills further pointed to an overall rating given to Stark by the National Federation of Independent Business of only 38 per cent.

"The NFIB rating system directly shows the frequency that a member of Congress casts his vote on 25 key issues that greatly affected the well-being of small business. And, when we stop to consider that no Congressman received lower than a 28 per cent rating, we even better realize how truly indifferent Stark is to the plight of the small businessman.

"Included in the NFIB rating was a vote to allow Congress to disapprove standards, rules, and regulations proposed by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, which Stark saw fit to vote against.

"To say the least, my opponent will unashamedly tell you of his supposed support for small business. Yet, when we take a close look at his actual voting record, we soon see just the opposite, and we have the NFIB, among others, to thank for calling Pete's bluff on this important matter.

"But how does this commission see fit to spend your money? Why don't you tell them, Pete? Tell the voters of the $142,000 expenditure for a study of bathtubs, the conclusion of which reads, 'Slips and falls are by far the most frequent type of bathtub accident!' "

"And," Mills, concluded, "this is but one instance of how Pete Stark has continually given the Ninth District voters a bath."

CAMPAIGN '76

Lawyers for Raymond

Supervisorial candidate Valerie Raymond has received the endorsement of the Alameda County Democratic Lawyers Club.

Before an audience of attorneys and judges Oct. 13, Raymond spoke on the relationship of the county to the judicial system, saying that rather than working with the judicial system to produce court reform, the county was taking the simpler but more expensive way out by building more than necessary.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the club presented her with a $100 contribution and their endorsement for supervisor.

No on 14 rally

CONCORD — Opponents of State Proposition 14, the Farm Workers Initiative, will hold a rally and country and western music concert from noon to 2 p.m. today at the Concord Pavilion.

Organizers expect 5,000 to 10,000 people for the free fete. Farm families from Fresno to Oregon will attend, a spokesman said.

The event will be followed by precinct work in both Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, including forays into the valley.

Groundwork

Groundbreaking at St. Raymond's in Dublin took a little muscle when the Rev. Msgr. Bernard J. Moran, pastor, (front left) and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John P. Connolly, vicar general and chairman of the diocesan building committee, "dug in" at recent ceremonies. Looking on are (l to r) the Rev. Mr. Fred Riccio, deacon; William Gillis, architect; Angelo Muzzini and Keith Davis, contractors, and Paul Ryan, general manager Valley Community Service District. The church will be located on Shannon Ave. and San Ramon Rd.

We are proud of Tom Berberich here at Valley Realty. Tom is one of the hardest workers in the Real Estate profession today as his volume depicts. A member of the Million $ Club and the prestigous President's Club, he has been associated with Valley Realty's Dublin office for approximately 4 years and has increased his business tremendously each year. The majority of Tom's business comes from referals from former clients he has served who would like their friends to receive the same professional treatment. His volume for 1976, through October 15th, is $2,650,905 in closed sales which equals 52 transactions.

Tom has been a professional salesman for 25 years and is well aware of the wants and desires of the public and how to fulfill those needs.

Tom's wife, Fran, is invaluable in helping him work his farm area, (an area of homes that they specialize in). She keeps on top of the comparable sales, closed escrows, current listings in the area, etc. and also helps make up their monthly news letter to that area. Also, Fran being an excellent cook, she includes in the news letter a different recipe each month and receives many calls for additional copies for friends.

In essence, Tom Berberich is just another reason that Valley Realty is the Oldest, Most Active Real Estate Company in the area.

Welcome is expressed by Jerry Moon, manager of Valley Realty the Dublin office to (left to right) Mary Powell, Carol Bragen and Craig Schirato, three new associates with the firm.

Valley Realty is in the process of building a new office for expansion purposes so they will be in the position to offer continued good service which has been Valley's motto since their inception 12 years ago. Valley Realty is the oldest most active real estate company in the area, originating in 1965. Some of the major reasons for Valley's success are they hire top personnel and put them through a 3 full week training school plus continuous training within the office prior to placing them in the field. Also Valley Realty has a full service company offering Guarantee sales, advances, estimates of value, and one of its greatest assets, the American Home Shield One Year of Home Warranty, for the protection of both buyer and seller. Valley Realty was the first company in Northern California to have a warranty program and they are very happy to see some of the other Realty Companies now following their precedent. You can tell Valley Realty's "FOR SALE SIGNS." They are Blue and White with "SOLD" on them.

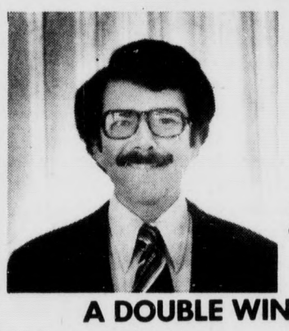
UNITED CALIFORNIA BROKERS DUBLIN OFFICE PRESENTS OUR:

SALESPERSON OF THE MONTH



Roger Manning- over $700,000 in two months.

A DOUBLE WINNER

August and September can be slow months for business, with what seems like half the population away on vacation. Not so for Roger Manning, Salesperson of Both Months at the Dublin office of United California Brokers. He recorded a whopping $360,000 in sales and listings for August and $352,000 for September. Roger has already won the top sales award once before this year - in April.

Like many of his colleagues in UCB, Roger has a background in electronics, having been in computer sales for a number of years. Asked to what he credits his success over the past several months, Roger replied: "Definitely, my sales background. As with many other businesses, you have to recognize people's needs and work to satisfy those needs."

Although he does a lot of wotk with investors, Roger finds that most of his sales are for single-family dwellings. This is especially true in his home community of Vintage Hills, where he lives with his schoolteacher wife Jane and their three sons. Roger is active in the Homeowner's Association, the Pleasanton schools, and the youth soccer program. A great many people with whom he has worked in these activities have given him a strong vote of confidence for his business acumen.
